MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Jan. 2.—Outlaw bullets in the jungles of Northern Nicaragua snapped short the lives of eight United States Marines Wednesday and inflicted serious wounds on two other enlisted men of the same patrol, who were brought here by airplane today.

The casualties, the heaviest sustained by the "leathernecks" since New Year's Day in 1928, were inflicted by lurking attackers in the wilderness of Archapaga, between Ocotul and Apali, where followers of the insurgent Augustino were later reported to have been operating again.

Meagre reports filtering back to Marine barracks here indicated that although the ambushed patrol was badly outnumbered and faced an enemy almost completely hidden by jungle growth, it stood "to the last man" and returned the bandit fire shot for shot. As far as could be ascertained, between twelve and

We didn't have a white Christmas but New Year's day was white enough.

Among the historic dates in January are: Sunday, January 4, when Isaac Newton discovered steam; the 8th, when the battle of New Orleans was fought; the 16th, when the independence of United States was acknowledged by France; the 17th, when Benjamin Franklin was born; the 18th when the first printed press appeared in America; the 19th, Robert E. Lee's birthday; and the 29th, William McKinley's birthday, Carnation Day.

Pa New watched a mighty interesting conversation New Year's day. Pa New says "watched" for there wasn't a word spoken in this conversation; it was all done with the hands and even though he couldn't understand a word the three were saying he tried to conjecture what it was all about, but evidently they were wishing each other a "Happy New Year" from the expression on their faces.

REVOLUTIONISTS SEIZE GOVERNMENT OF PANAMA

COLON, P. C. Z., Jan. 2.—With startling suddenness, a group of young revolutionaries headed by General Manuel Quintero today overthrew the government of President Florencio Arosemena, clapped chief executive into prison and set up a provisional revolutionary junta. At 9:25 a. m., several hours after the revolutionary outbreak had taken place, the insurrectionists were in full control of native Panama.

Three persons were known to have been killed in street fighting which preceded seizure of the presidential palace by the revolutionaries. It was reliably reported that Rodolfo Chari, well-known political leader who had dictated the policies of the Panama Republic for years, was among the victims.

On the stroke of midnight, a large force of revolutionaries marched on the presidential palace. They were met by a detachment of the local police force, which has the responsibility of protecting the government in the absence of a regular army.

Spirited fighting took place, with scores of shots fired. The police found themselves powerless to deal

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—The Senate's formal inquiry into national unemployment, the extent of state relief and the adequacy of federal relief will get under way Monday, it was announced today by Senator Jones (R) of Washington, chairman of the Senate appropriations committee.

The inquiry, authorized by the LaFollette resolution, will be held to determine whether national unemployment can be relieved by state agencies, plus the two bills sponsored by President Hoover and enacted before the Christmas recess. These measures appropriated $116,000,000 to speed federal public works and authorized a $45,000,000 fund for loans to farmers in drought-stricken states.

All the government's authorities on unemployment and agricultural distress will be called before the committee. Secretary of Agriculture Hyde will be the first witness, appearing Monday in connection with the $45,000,000 farm loan bill. John Barton Payne, chairman of the American Red Cross, a representative of Major General Lytle Brown, chief of army engineers, and Thomas H. Mystery Attends Finding Of Girl Dead In Her Bed

Identity Of Person Who Killed Girl With Bullet, Puzzles Washington Police

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Identity of the person who shot Miss Beulah Limerick, 19, former theatre usher, washed away the blood and carefully arranged her hair over the wound before calling a physician, remained a mystery today.

The girl was found dead New Year's eve in a bed in a house she occupied with her brothers and sisters. The physician declared he was told by those at the house that "she had been ill for sometime." He did not notice the bullet wound until the body was turned over to an undertaker.

Police learned Miss Limerick was married when she was 14 to Earl Athelton and the marriage was annulled only a few weeks ago. Police are studying a diary in which Miss Limerick made notes about her various boy friends. Everyone who knew the girl is being questioned along with her relatives. Her mother collapsed after being questioned.

Expert Gives Approval To Four System Plan For Eastern Railways

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Jan. 2.—Consolidation of the Eastern Trunk Lines into four huge railway systems and President Hoover's support of such a merger today had gained the commendation of one of the country's foremost traffic experts, Professor William Z. Ripley, of Harvard University, who stated that the railroads concerned, their employees, shippers and the traveling public would benefit thereby.

Professor Ripley, who was technical advisor to the interstate commerce commission during the formation of the original plans for the consolidation, also expressed the belief that as a result of this merger, general unemployment would be averted, rate stability would be insured, waste energy, both human and mechanical, would be eliminated, regulation of government charges would be simplified; financial intrigues would be ended; and competition with bus, truck, barge and other means of transportation, in themselves incentives to consolidation, would be approached or more even terms.

The intervention of President Hoover was described by Professor Ripley as a timely occurrence and one that relieved the routine burdened interstate commerce commission of an added task.

BRITISH TROOPS CLASH WITH BURMESE REBELS

(International News Service)

LONDON, Jan. 2.—Two hundred Burmese rebels were killed today when 1,000 British troops carried out a vigorous attack against their jungle stronghold in the Tharawaddy section of upper Burma and shattered all resistance, according to exchange telegraph dispatches from Rangoon.

The rebel savages, who have held the government forces at bay for several days, fled to their mountain fastnesses after abandoning a series of well planned entrenchments.

Seventeen officers were found among the rebel dead.

Various advices received here said that the troops suffered no casualties.

It was reported that in penetrating through the rebel defense positions, the troops came upon a roughly built palace rising in haughty splendor in the jungle wilderness apparently the headquarters and abode of the mysterious "master mind" said to be the propelling force behind the rebellion.

The amazed soldiers, according to the reports, were suddenly confronted by a steep hill crowned by the jungle palace. In the army rooms tending to the latest modern style they found everything from the reception hall to the dining room. A lavishly decorated audience chamber, topped the architectural ensemble.

From the tower of the palace, spired by a roughly hewn pole, floated an unknown flag.

The entire palace and vicinity was carefully combed by soldiers for hidden jungle fighters. It was believed that all retreated with their leaders to the mountain strongholds, however.

MOVE COMES AS REAL SURPRISE

Errors Are Charged In Hearing As Basis For New Trial

(International News Service)
YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 2.—Motion for a retrial of the injunction suit against the merger of Youngstown Sheet & Tube company with Bethlehem Steel Corporation, was filed in common pleas court here today by legal representatives for the two companies.

Surprise Move
The filing of the petition for a new trial came as a surprise move in the battle to merge the two concerns. The anti-mergersists, headed by Cyrus S. Eaton, Cleveland capitalist, last Monday were granted the injunction against the consolidation by Judge David G. Jenkins.

The petition filed today charged Judge Jenkins' judgment against the merger was contrary to the weight of the evidence presented in the trial. It also alleged that errors of law occurred in the hearing which was concluded after 15 weeks of testimony and argument.

No Date Set Yet.
Judge Jenkins stated that no date has yet been set for the hearing of the motion for a new trial. Today was the last day a motion for a new trial could be filed.

The filing of the motion followed a series of secret conferences held by officials of the two companies (Continued On Page Two)

Marshal Joffre Death Report Is Found Untrue

Announcement Made At Marshal's Home Yesterday Later Denied

(International News Service)
PARIS, Jan. 2.—Marshal Joffre of France, breathing fairly regularly as if in the deepest sleep, was reported unchanged today after more than 20 hours of continued unconsciousness.

An official bulletin issued by his three attending physicians at 7 a. m. today (2 a. m. eastern standard time) said:

"The night passed without incident. There was no change in the marshal's condition."

Conflicting reports regarding Joffre's condition were given out through New Year's day by persons who were allowed at the bedside of the Marne hero for a few moments.

In the middle of the day a broadcast from the Eiffel Tower radio station announced the marshal's death, and an hour later the secretary of Premier Theodor Steeg, coming out of the clinic, left confirmation of the report by the announcement "He's dead."

The report of "Papa" Joffre's death was denied by official government announcement, and shortly afterward attending physicians began again the issuance of bulletins on his state of health. One of the official announcements said the comatose state into which the patient had fallen had been mistaken for death.

Leave Sunday For Legislature

Assemblymen And State Senator Prepare For Session

Senator George T. Weintraub and Assemblymen Bart Richards and William McElwee, Jr., will leave on Sunday for Harrisburg to be present at the caucus of the Republican members of the senate and house on Monday evening, January 5, prior to the opening of the session on January 6.

The caucus of both branches of the assembly will be held Monday evening at which time the officers will be elected for the coming session. There seems to be no opposition to C. Jay Goodenough as speaker of the house, but for the presidency of the senate a bitter fight has been waged upon Senator Augustus F. Daix, who was elected at the close of the session in 1929.

The session will convene at noon on Tuesday at which time the members of the house will be sworn in, and those members of the senate who are entering upon new terms will also be sworn in. The members of the senate who are on the second session of their term hold over without any new oath.

Following the organization of the senate and the house a joint session of both houses will be held at which the governor's message will be read. The adjournment following will be for two weeks to permit the appointment of committees.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 2.—The Kalendoscopic picture of the scientific achievements in 1930, a retrospective of the works of leading scientists in the country, which began here last Monday, will be concluded tonight at the closing session of the American Association for the Advancement of Science convention.

Furnishing a grand climax to the week's convention, Dr. Paul R. Heyl, of the United States Bureau of Standards will expound his theory of "weighing the earth" at the final session for the delegates and general public.

Only a dozen group meetings of the various affiliated scientific organizations took place in conjunction with the 87th annual convocation of the parent body remained on the program today.

If the weather indications can be taken at their face, then the new year seems to please us more as it goes away. He brought us days all dressed in blue, with shining winter skies, with temperature not too far down, just fits about my size. But well I know the days will come with snow and darkened clouds, and trust will hang like ghostly pals, or ghastly funeral shrouds. BALTIMORE, Jan. 2.—The Baltimore Post, a five-story building at Lombard and Hanover streets last night, and caused the death of one of its employees, appeared on the streets as usual today.

It was printed in the plant of the A. S. Abell Co., which publishes The Sun and The Evening Sun. Firemen attributed the fire to an explosion in the photographic rooms on the second floor of the building. The explosion occurred at 7 p. m. yesterday, just an hour after the final edition was published and all of the employees, with the exception of about a dozen printers, had quit for the day.

The building and equipment were wrecked and officials of the Scripps-Howard organization are expected here from New York today to consider arrangements for continuing the publication.

One Man Killed.
Joseph R. Douglass, 47, linotype operator, lost his life when he became hysterical and missed the ladder that was placed outside the third story window. He fell to the ground, head first.

Four employees were injured slightly. They were Earl G. Kieck, Harry Sergeant, Melvin Garrick and J. Harry Welby.

The fire menaced the wholesale dry goods district of the city and started a few squares from the spot where the Baltimore fire started in 1904. During the conflagration the offices of The Sun were burned and the paper was published with the type and presses of a plant in Washington.

The Baltimore Post started publication in 1922 as a tabloid but two years ago expanded its paper to standard size.

An unofficial estimate of the damage was placed at $300,000. Andrew D. Brashers, the editor-in-chief, said today, "we're going right ahead. His full staff of workers was at work as usual."

Railroads Will Pick Own Men To Arbitrate Details

Four Eastern Trunk Lines Executives Will Meet In New York Today

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—The White House believes the executives of the four eastern railroads will select their own men to arbitrate minor differences in their plans to consolidate the railroads of the east into four great trunk systems.

When President Hoover publicly endorsed the merger Tuesday he also offered to appoint the arbiters. But today's information indicated the railroads will name such a commission at their meeting in New York today.

The detail to be settled concerns trackage rights of the Pennsylvania over the Nickel Plate system on the southern shore of Lake Erie to Buffalo, N. Y., the New York Central had previously protested against the Pennsylvania acquiring this privilege which would give it an additional entrance to Buffalo.

You're the JUDGE

Through the town of Dunkberg, the S. T. & L. railroad ran. In the town, also, there resided an enterprising and aggressive citizen by the name of Ezra B. Blubb. It occurred to Mr. Blubb, in his pursuit of profitable business ventures, that the town was without a first class hotel and one built there might be a profitable venture. He, therefore, went to the officials of the S. T. & L. railroad and after considerable negotiations drew up a contract with the officials to the effect that if Blubb built the hotel for the accommodation of the traveling public and maintained it in a first class manner the railroad would lend its patronage to it and support it.

When the hotel was completed no support came from the railroad. Mr. Blubb looked around for possible redress and determined to file suit against the railroad company.

Work on the construction of the Meyer avenue storm sewer being built as a means of providing work for unemployed in this city, is near completion. The sewer has been in the course of construction for several weeks. All of the work was done by hand, instead of by use of steam shovels, and it took a longer time to complete than would have been possible by use of high speed methods. But the idea was to provide work and this aim has been accomplished.

While the unemployed are being given work by the city, why wouldn't it be a good idea to build a new avenue along the Croton avenue hill, one that would really act as a barrier?

How are the resolutions getting along? Do they still stand good or have you put the things out of your mind—where they will land in a couple of weeks anyway?

Storm Sewer Excavation Yet To Be Made In Highland Avenue

Stanley Treser, councilman and superintendent of the city department of streets announced today that while the trench in Meyer avenue is practically completed to Meyer avenue, excavation must be made in Highland avenue to connect with the catch-basin. The men are experienced dynamiters having been employed in that vocation before depression struck the country.

Four hundred men were ordered to work at eight a. m. yesterday and they will have their turns taken by another four hundred, Monday.

with the determined insurrectionists and were driven from the street. Spasmoid firing continued until a late hour this morning, although government forces made no further attempt to resist the revolutionaries. The revolution appeared to be completely successful, with concerted resistance made impossible by the arrest and imprisonment of President Arosemena, unless the United States decides to intervene.

All cable and telegraph communications throughout the isthmus were cut by the insurrectionists, although cut by the Canal zone, which is under American jurisdiction, were not molested.

Political opposition to Arosemena, who took office for a term of four years in October, 1928, has been seeking for some time, but the active revolutionary movement, which the authorities completely by surprise.

Announcement that the revolution has succeeded and a provisional junta formed was made by insurrectionary spokesmen a few moments before American troops arrived on the scene.

Sixteen Killed
COLON, P. C. Z., Jan. 2.—Sixteen persons were reported killed today when a group of young revolutionaries, headed by General Manuel Quintero, overthrew the government of the Republic of Panama, imprisoning President Florencio Arosemena and Vice President G. Gabriel Duque and setting up a provisional insurrectionary junta.

Many persons were reported injured in the street fighting, including Hartwell P. Ayers, former American newspaper editor of Atlanta, Ga., whose home is said to be in Alabama. Ayers was taken to the Gorgas hospital with bullet wounds in his stomach and throat. His condition is extremely serious.

While the revolutionaries were in complete control of Panama City, it was apparent that the trouble was rebellion Governor Inocencio Galdino of the province of Colon issued a manifesto calling upon all government employees to sign a pledge of loyalty to the Arosemena government. Imprisonment was threatened for all who had failed to comply by noon.

It was feared the manifesto would precipitate grave trouble on the Atlantic side of the isthmus as government employees are known to be lacking in sympathy toward the Arosemena regime.

The revolutionary forces were composed of members of the "Accion Comunal", a radical political organization. Coats and wearing broad-brimmed straw hats they invaded the presidential palace after smashing the police and driving them from the streets.

Groups of the revolutionaries took up posts at important street intersections, armed with bayoneted rifles, to maintain order. Panama City was reported quiet some hours after the outbreak.

American troops were guarding the border between native Panama and the Canal zone, as well as the United States legation in Panama City. No attempt at intervention had been made up to a late hour this morning.

The Senate also directed that Payne be questioned about conditions in the drought-stricken states and "whether the American Red Cross can provide adequate relief to all needy persons in those states."

It further requested Payne be asked about "conditions in the cities and towns of the country caused by economic depression and resultant unemployment."

MacDonald will be questioned about the bureau's plans with state highway commissions for expansion of road building during the current unemployment period. Brown's representative will be asked about plans for river and harbor developments.

After receiving this information the committee will report to the Senate. This will be used as the basis for proposing additional relief legislation or in opposing further remedies.

STAR LORE
WHEN LOOKING AT A STAR MAP

By Arthur Dev. Carpenter
When you look at a star map and see the stars in a constellation marked with the letters of the Greek alphabet, it means that each star so marked is designated by that particular letter. Usually the brightest star carries the label Alpha; the next brightest Beta; the third brightest Gamma, and so on. To illustrate: The brightest star in the constellation Gemini (Twins), is Castor, so designated from ancient times. But it is scientifically known as Alpha Geminorum. The next brightest is Pollux, also known as Beta Geminorum. The third brightest is Alhena. Its Greek letter name is Gamma. A few of the brightest stars have special names that have become very familiar.

EIGHT MARINES

Twenty of the attackers were either killed or wounded.

Marines in Pursuit
Fifty Marines were sent in pursuit of the ambushing party according to information here, the attack began shortly before noon on Wednesday, with the bandits using automatics and rifles. Sergeant Parland soon saw the hopelessness of his situation and ordered Private Hutcherson to return to Ocotal for aid. An enemy bullet halted him in his mission, however, and forced him to seek cover in the bushes.

Private Hutcherson stuck to his position until all others were dead and the bandits left, crawling into a cornfield to bind his wounded shoulder.

Trucks were dispatched to bring back the dead, and the wounded were brought here by airplane. By men will probably recover, it was stated.

The Casualties
The dead, with their next of kin and addresses are:
Sergeant Arthur M. Palrang, A. M. Palrang, father, Fort Lyon, Col.
Private first class, Irving W. Aron, Cecelia Aron, mother: Brooklyn, N. Y.
Private Lambert Bush, Richard H. Bush, father: Bay Minette, Ala.
Private Edward Everett Elliott, V. E. Elliott, grandfather: Des Moines, Ia.
Private Joseph Alfred Harbaugh, Blanche Moffat, grandmother, Washington, Pa.
Private Joseph Frank Kosieradski, Peter Kosieradski, father, Buffalo.
Private Richard J. Litz, Pearl Litz, mother, Indianapolis.
Private Joseph Arthur McCarthy, John W. McCarthy, father, Chillicothe, Mo.
The wounded are Privates Frank Austin of Lawrenceville, Ga. and Mack Hutcherson, of Shreveport, La.

In Second Brigade
The victims were members of the second Marine Brigade headquartered at Managua since 1927, when they were sent there to protect American lives and property from revolutionary activities.

Available information here stated that the ten men were sent out under Sergeant Palrang to repair a telephone line which had gone out of commission some days before. The sector in which the patrol worked had remained quite calm the last few months, although outlays were known to be still roving the sparsely inhabited jungle region.

The first warning came in the cracks of a rifle shot and the vicious ping of a steel bullet according to infiltrating advices, with the enemy well hidden. One Marine fell at the first volley, the others dismounted and dropped their tools and sought the best available cover blazing away in the direction of their attackers.

The outlay bullets came fast and furious, with the jungle marksmen gradually venturing closer in the hope of reaching the small group of defenders stretched on the ground and fighting back with true "leatherness" tenacity. Slowly the rapid fire of the little patrol withered down as outlay bullets found their mark, but the attackers paid a heavy price.

For two long hours, according to the reports, the uneven battle raged in the jungle thickness, until all the Marine detachment was either killed or wounded. Then the attackers faded quickly away.

The territory in which the ambustook place previously had been the scene of heavy fighting and has never been considered entirely safe for outsiders.

Official Report.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—An official report to the navy department by Col. F. M. Bradman, commandant of marines in Nicaragua, today confirmed unofficial reports that the fighting in which eight marines in Nicaragua were killed on December 31 was started by a large group of bandits who ambushed a group of marines engaged in repairing a telephone line.

Bradman's report revealed that the bandits emerged from a densely wooded section to attack the small contingent of marines working under the command of Sergeant Arthur M. Palrang of Fort Lyons, Colo. Bradman said the action lasted about two and a half hours and he estimated that 11 bandits were killed and four wounded.

The skirmish was the third battle the marines had fought with bandits within a week. The first, Bradman said, occurred December 23, and no casualties resulted. The second occurred December 29 during which two bandits were killed and five wounded.

1000 Marines There.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Approximately 1000 marines stationed in Nicaragua are fully capable of taking care of the situation and the fighting Wednesday in which eight marines were killed, and no additional forces will be sent there, marine corps headquarters announced today.

Nothing more than the brief report advising of the death of active marines and the wounding of two others was received here. A detailed report of the fighting is expected to arrive by mail about January 8.

Homestead Man Makes Address

Of Emancipation Of Race

With the auditorium of the Second Baptist church comfortably filled on Thursday evening, the anniversary of the emancipation of the race was celebrated with Rev. M. A. Talley of Homestead as the principal speaker. Dr. J. A. Gillespie acted in the capacity of chairman of the evening.

"American civilization in which our people are enmeshed is the mightiest social and industrial evolution in all history. It is a civilization which involves man's development and culture in social life, industry, and religion," said Rev. Talley.

"In the fact of many handicaps the negro has gone forward to answer the demands of this civilization, and while these demands had almost exterminated the Indian who was a contemporary with the Negro, yet the Negro had increased his race from 4,000,000 to over 14,000,000 in 56 years."

Rev. Talley flayed the behaviorism of individualism in the race and urged that lycums should be formed to change the Negro's philosophy of individual thinking and acting. It was a worth while address, one that held the audience with its forcefulness and power and the committee in charge of the meeting is to be congratulated upon securing such a speaker for the occasion.

GIVE IDENTITY OF KIDNAPER

Attorney Reveals Name Of Alleged Kidnap Of St. Louis Lad

(International News Service)
ST. LOUIS, Jan. 2.—The kidnaper of Adolphus Busch Orthwein, 13, considered one of the wealthiest children in the middle west, was the son of a St. Louis negro Real Estate dealer, Harry Troll, attorney for Percy J. Orthwein, the boy's father told reporters today.

Following Troll's statement police immediately hurried to the home of the Real Estate dealer in order to question him in connection with the kidnapping.

Troll told reporters that the wealthy Orthwein youth was returned to his parents without any ransom changing hands, the father of the alleged kidnapper saying to Orthwein, the boy's father, "as father to father, I want to return your boy."

Troll's statement to the reporters broke the silence of the Busch family who have steadfastly refused to make a statement concerning their knowledge of the kidnapping since the youth returned to his grandfather's palatial home, Grant's farm, yesterday.

Eleanor Magill, 519½ Highland avenue, is convalescing nicely at her home from an appendicitis operation. She is able now to sit up in a chair a while each day.

Charles Frengel, Thomas Frank and Tony Frank were visitors in Cleveland, O., on New Years Day.

and legal counsel. Leaders in the move to merge the concerns met in New York Wednesday, presumably to discuss a course of action.

Judge Jenkins' ruling brought a temporary halt in one of the most spectacular lawsuits in the history of the nation. It was not believed likely that the proponents of the merger would permit the decision to stand without waiting a further fight to effect the consolidation.

Followers of the trial predicted that the decisions would be appealed to a higher court. No indication has been made, however, that such an action will be taken by the mergerists.

THE PEOPLE OF EUROPE DO NOT HATE US

THE notion that the people of the European countries hate the United States because of its war debt, immigration and tariff policies is most emphatically denied by Dr. Julius Klein, Assistant Secretary of Commerce. It is quite possible, of course, that individuals or groups of persons in some places may be prejudiced against this country; but the idea that every foreign family "went into a daily five-minute huddle of good, snappy anti-Americanism" is too silly for words. Indeed, Dr. Klein calls this talk "a figment of superheated imaginations." It is quite probable that local irritation or envy may be found in spots; but we are assured that any general organized animosity or malevolence "toward American commerce or the American people is virtually non-existent."

People on this side of the water who seem to take a morbid pleasure in insisting that we are so cordially detested in Europe generally manage to name the Smoot-Hawley tariff law as the chief cause of the so-called feeling against us. But they forget to mention adds the Philadelphia Inquirer that fact that countries which complain of our tariff law also have tariff barriers of their own which discriminate against our manufactured goods. In the same breath in which they tell of the discontent of foreigners over our tariff law they say that it is costing, or will cost, our own people hundreds of millions—aye, billions—of dollars in advanced prices. That is where they defeat their own purpose. Every intelligent person is aware that prices in this country are lower now than they have been in more than a decade.

The other alleged causes of irritation are just as foolish. Time and patience, seem to be solving the difficulties over war debts and there has ceased to be any real controversy on that subject. And so it is with the immigration question. Necessity has forced the restriction policy. It may seem harsh, but we would be guilty of cruelty if we permitted hundreds of thousands of Europeans to come here looking for work at a time when so many of our own people are unemployed. It would hurt us without helping them.

"Europe is engulfed," in the words of Dr. Klein, "in a depression that is universal." The peak of unemployment over there is expected to come in the latter part of January. And—in reality—Europe expects the United States to lead in world trade recovery. So our interests are mutual and they will become more so as time goes on.

THE NAMES OF AMERICA

News that the town of Linoleumville, on Staten Island, New York, has voted to change its name to something less bizarre leads one to hope that Linoleumville isn't starting a movement that will become general. Some of our place names are very odd, and some of them probably bring a blush to the native son's cheek when he signs a hotel register, but most of them are descriptive, and it would be a mistake to change them.

To begin with, there is Main street. For some reason this name evokes great merriment in the metropolitan centers, as if it were intrinsically amusing. If you are really enlightened, you will never mention Main street without a sneer.... But after all—what's wrong with Main street as a name? It is perfectly apt. The street that gets that name is, usually, a town's main street. Why not name it that way?

Besides, Main street has become distinctive. It is typical of this time and place. In its bluntness, its lack of affection and its commonness, Main street is perhaps our foremost Americanism. It is worth hanging on to.

Then there are town names. Some of them automatically shed light on old, forgotten history. Bad Axe, in Michigan, for instance, is wonderfully expressive. So are Medicine Bow, Wyoming, and Placerville, in California, and Prairie du Chien, in Wisconsin, and Baton Rouge, in Louisiana.

There are smaller places, too, whose names have a refreshing strangeness. Such towns as Black Bass, Ia.; Promptness, Pa.; Breezy Hill, Kan.; Defeated Creek, Ky.; Smoky Ordinary, Va.; Womble, N. C.; Good Water, Ala.; and Hahatomka, Mo.—would any sensible man, living in a town with such a name, consent to having it changed to something less outlandish?

For all names of this sort really mean something. No self-conscious Chamber of Commerce has tried to prettify them or get an urban flavor into their rural connotation. If you dug back to the beginnings and got a description of each christening you might have some good stories.

The early geographers, in some cases, had a veritable genius for nomenclature. Cape Cod could not have a better name; nor could Old Point Comfort, or the Golden Gate, or the Great Smoky Mountain chain, or the Enchanted Mesa, or the Staked Plains of Texas, or Lake Minnetonka.

But these names, musical and romantic in their sound, are beside the point. The important thing is for these lesser places to keep their names. Let Linoleumville be the last to give up a picturesque title.

COURAGE AND CONFIDENCE

It is not typically American to whine and become despondent in the face of difficulties or temporary reverses. This country, from the earliest colonial days, has "come up through great tribulation." The pioneers had no easy life. The generation preceding this one did not have its lines laid along channels so smooth as those accessible to the present generation. Think of the turmoil and strife just before the Civil War. Contemplate the terrible devastation appertaining to and resulting from that internecine strife. Ponder upon the problems of reconstruction and the economic difficulties which arose after the Civil War. Consider the distress and hardship and misfortune attendant upon the panics of 1873, 1893 and 1907. Then compare the hurtful results of the depression which began late in 1929 and has persisted through the year. The American people are coming through this period of arrested prosperity in good shape, as compared with depression periods and panics of the past. The American people of the past went through periods of economic distress with courage, fortitude and confidence in the future. Those who live today may look back and see that the courage and confidence of the past was justified. For, after each period of a few lean years, there were many prosperously fat years. History repeats itself. There will be many prosperous years following the depression which is now moving toward its end.—The Pasadena Star-News.

Don't despair. If you can't run, you can sit on the fence and register scorn during the race.

"But your wife went to work as usual."

"Yes, sir," replied Jones. "I went round, all right, and I rang the bell for about ten minutes, but I couldn't get no answer."

The idle golfer in front turned with a cheerful smile.

New Year's Wish
I'm wishing you a Happy New Year and I'm hoping that the things you want from 1931 will all come true for you. I mean the good things you're wishing for yourself—not the bad ones like too much ease, or too much money, or too much security. It's likely you're wishing for such things out of this new year, but you know as well as I do that they won't do you as much good as you think and you shouldn't be given them. You'll be better off without them.

I hope you take into this new year all the good of the past to be added into the good of the future and draw compound interest for the rest of your days. I truly believe that can be done, though bitter men have denied it. Two grim sentences stick in my mind, two sad bits of devil's advice. One is: "The future is the past entered through another door." The other: "Tomorrow is today with another name."

I don't believe the men who thought up those sentences were as wise as they thought. I do not believe the past is a mad hyena snapping at the heels of the present. I do not believe that we shall always wear in the future the patched clothing of the past. For I have seen men discard their past, as men throw away old cigar butts. I have seen, though rarely, I admit, a Sow's Ear made into a Silk Purse, and I am sure that what some men have done still other men can do.

Sometimes on the streets of my city, I meet a man whose past was hideous. He was a drunkard, corrupt and hopeless, but now he wears the face of an angel and that face is no mask but the reflection of his own inner joy. He exchanged a torment for Peace and men who know his story look at him with wonder in their hearts—and they rarely reflect that they could do what he has done. They quote the sad wisdom of pessimism and do not realize that men may slip off their past in the smooth stream of time and come forth clean and refreshed to a new life. It does not happen very often, but men have proved that it can happen.

Here we stand, on the first day of 1931, looking over into the whole future, not merely into the short year that lies before us. We stand here and we stare beyond into limitless time, as did those strong pioneers who crossed the dry plains and climbed the wearing mountains and came at last to pass in the great hills and looked out toward fertile valleys where anything might grow. Our futures are as fertile, they are as virgin as that.

From that rich soil, a happy life may spring into green beauty for us and for our children. Out there in the New Year, we shall make many mistakes. We shall struggle and fall, grow peevish and lose heart, feel courage slip away and grasp it again, and be strong men and women once more. Anything may happen in 1931. We may not get all our clutching hands have desired, but we can be, if we wish it hard enough, all that our dreaming hearts have imagined we might become. And I wish you that kind of happiness for the New Year of 1931.

DOES YOUR BOSS SEEM STINGY?

At times you think the boss is unnecessarily severe and exacting. You cannot understand why he is so eager to save time and material.

You have never watched as he has how small amounts grow to big sums.

If you had as much money as he, you think you would not be so pennywise.

You would not demand so much from your employees.

Possibly the reason you are still an employee is because you have not practiced little economies and could not understand the employer's viewpoint.

Throughout your life you have had opportunities to improve your position and enlarge your bank account, but that needed money you hadn't saved.

If you conducted your affairs on a business basis you might, even though your salary is small, have had a nest egg of savings.

The practical man annoys you. But if it were not for such men, neither you nor hosts of other men would possess your kind of opportunities to earn a living.

The boss you think cranky and unreasonable may be having a hard time to maintain his business at a point where he can continue to employ you.

He has cares and worries much larger and more important than the ones you know.

To be disagreeable just because the other man is in no position to answer back.

To be wasteful just because you are prosperous.

Prosperity sometimes ends.

Norris-Lucas Row Raises Issue Of Party Regularity

Methods Employed In Attempt To Defeat Senator From Nebraska Arouse Much Criticism While Senator Also Is Attacked

Two chief questions are recognized in the controversy within the Republican organization over the disclosure of methods employed in an attempt to defeat Senator Norris in the last election. The position of Robert H. Lucas, as official of the Republican National Committee, is widely condemned, but in his support it is denied that Senator Norris is entitled to be classed as a Republican.

"There will be no end to this conflict," declares the NEW YORK SUN (Ind.), "until we have a new political cleavage. When the radicals grow strong enough they will become a party, opposed by the conservative elements in the two old parties. Meanwhile any demagogue who supports government operation of utilities and unlimited appropriations for paternalistic bureaucracy and bonuses is branded to call himself Democrat or Republican, as he chooses; and if the wind sits in the right quarter, he is wafted into Congress."

"In a country of the size and nature of the United States," says the WORCESTER TELEGRAM (Ind.), "it is a tremendous task to organize and maintain national parties which can be effective. Along with firmness for certain principles, there must be moderation and compromise on all sides." The Telegram holds that "the question of the propriety of Mr. Lucas' actions is not even debatable among those who profess to have had regard for straightforwardness and truth," but it argues that "political parties cannot be effective unless they can at times control majorities unless their members are united."

While it is the opinion of the CHICAGO DAILY NEWS (Ind.) that "the circus incident is prone to degenerate into a nuisance," that paper finds no ground for "insisting on strict party regularity these days," and also comments: "Rational independence is not synonymous with prevarice, professional insincerity. So long as there is a lack of major party issues to stir the popular imagination, it is bound to be much straying from party folds at particular times and on particular questions."

On the question of the regularity of Senator Norris, the TOPEKA DAILY CAPITAL (Rep.) states as to his record, particularly in supporting Governor Smith: "These actions are for the people he represents to judge. They are the Republicans of Nebraska, and they nominated him in a fair primary and made him the Republican candidate for the Senate." The ANN ARBOR DAILY NEWS (Ind.) adds: "There is no law prohibiting an independent from seeking a Republican nomination, and citizens of Nebraska cannot be deported or jailed for electing Norris repeatedly. If they desire him to be their representative, whether he be irregular mugwump or what-not."

"Though quite correct in his conviction that Senator Norris was not a Republican," argues the NEW YORK HERALD-TRIBUNE (Rep.), "Mr. Lucas was singularly unhappy in what he set out to do about it. * * * He proceeded to conduct his anti-Norris activities in secret, whereas he should have known that such secrecy is virtually impossible in politics. This minor political mishap has now been exposed with all the customary artifice and trumpeting which can be expected from Senator Norris' Senatorial friends."

The result is an unfortunate widening of the breach between insurgents and regular Republicans and a probable strengthening of Senator Norris' political position. "The Republicanism of Senator Norris," maintains the HARTFORD COURANT (Ind. Rep.), "is not for Mr. Lucas or any other individual to determine. Under the political system that prevails in the United States, such an issue can only be determined by the voters. It was presented to the Republicans of Nebraska in the last election, and they rendered the verdict at the polls that Senator Norris was a Republican fit to represent them in the Senate. No individual, whatever his position in the party, can go behind such a verdict and without a democratic control of the party would be taken from the hands of the voters, whether in Nebraska or in Connecticut, and placed in the hands of a petty bureaucracy responsible to no one."

The Lucas campaign against the Senator is described by the WHEELING INTELLIGENCER (Rep.) as involving a "pointless squabble," since "Senator Norris has always been a liberal and Mr. Lucas has always been highly conservative." That paper charges that "reactionary forces, principally the Power Trust, tried to beat Senator Norris for re-election and failed," and that they used "methods of deception." The SPRINGFIELD REPUBLICAN (Ind.) denounces "cheap and dirty politics, thus far without a defeat," and the CHARLESTON EVENING POST (Ind. Dem.) asserts: "Election of Hitchcock, a Democrat, as Senator from Nebraska, instead of Senator Norris, would have resulted in a Democratic majority in the Senate and would have indicated to the public that the Democratic landslide was of even greater proportions than it was, inasmuch as Norris was a terrifically hard man to beat. Nevertheless, the executive director of the Republican national committee sent money to Nebraska to help elect a Democrat over a Republican. It is not to be wondered at that Republican Senators have demanded the resignation of Lucas. What can they expect of a party chief who is likely to use the committee's money to put the Democrats in power next time if he decides that the Republicans have not been supporting President Hoover?"

Referring to a statement by Representative Wood of the Republican organization, the BALTIMORE EVENING SUN (Ind. Dem.) remarks: "What Representative Wood seems unable to get through his head is the fact that it was not because Mr. Lucas doesn't like Senator Norris that his fight against the Nebraska is criticized, but because it was a sneaking, undercover fight. After all, there are certain proprieties to be observed, even in devilment."

"Senator Norris has no doubt he is the only boy in the whole Regiment who is keeping step," thinks the SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE (Continued On Page Five)

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

NOT LONG AGO

E. F. Roberts, Vice President of Packard, recalled at a gathering of automobile oldtimers that twenty-seven years ago he was arrested in Schenectady for speeding. He was making a test run for the Packard Company at fifteen miles an hour. The legal speed limit was six miles. The sheriff with a fast trotting horse, caught him and Roberts was fined $3.40.

Twenty-seven years ago—that was in 1903. How many automobiles were in New Castle in 1903? There have been some rather indefinite statements about this but the first one which the writer remembers was a Steam Buggy, one Locomobile, owned and driven by C. J. Kirk, and back in the 90's Phillip Courtney and Clifford Watson were crazy about "Horseless Carriages." Phil planned and drafted a splendid chariot of the old-fashioned Phaeton type. But it was never built.

Opinions Given By J. A. Chambers In Court Cases

New Trial Is Refused Tom Allen Who Was Convicted On Liquor Charge

DEFENDANTS WIN IN TWO AUTO CASES

In an opinion handed down by Judge James A. Chambers today a new trial is refused in the case of the commonwealth against Tom Allen, convicted on a liquor charge. In the application for a new trial it was contended that the verdict was against the weight of the evidence. Improper remarks by the district attorney in the trial of the case were also alleged. The court holds that it was entirely proper for the district attorney to cross examine defendant as to a former conviction, which was the point raised.

In the case of the commonwealth against Joseph Duce, in which he was convicted of a charge by a young woman, a new trial is refused. It was asked upon the grounds that the verdict was against the weight of the evidence.

In the case of Robert X. Graham against A. C. Stewart, plaintiff's motion for a new trial is refused and the prothonotary is directed to enter judgment on the verdict. Plaintiff was injured while a guest in the car of John W. Hulme, when the car skidded on the New Wilmington road. Verdict in the case was in favor of the defendant, A. C. Stewart.

In the case of John W. Hulme against A. C. Stewart, arising out of the above accident, the plaintiff's motion for a new trial is also refused for the same reasons set forth in the Graham-Stewart case.

In the case of the commonwealth against John Beatrice, motion filed to quash indictment is granted. This was a case growing out of the issuance of a check without having sufficient funds in the bank to meet it. After citing authorities the court holds that the indictment is fatally defective.

In the case of J. C. Grandey, now for the use of Universal Credit company against C. T. Johnston, rule issued to show cause why a judgment should not be stricken from the record is discharged. The case is one growing out of an automobile purchase lease.

In the case of the Universal Sales company against Joe Isabella, the prothonotary is directed to enter judgment in favor of the plaintiff and against the defendant for $680. The case involved the purchase of an automobile.

(Ind.), offering the comment: "Robert H. Lucas makes a totally effective reply to Senator Norris' plaintive charge that Lucas shivered party regularly by working against the Nebraska Senator's renomination in the Republican primaries and therefore should be dismissed from his job as executive secretary of the National Republican party. But Mr. Lucas could have been just as effective at much less trouble by saying: 'Tut, tut, Senator!'"

The MANCHESTER UNION (Ind. Rep.) maintains that "a man is no Republican if he habitually opposes Republican executives and Republican policies." The ST. LOUIS GLOBE-DEMOCRAT (Ind.) makes a plea for the ousting of the insurgents with the statement: "They now head most of the more important committees of the Senate, positions which give them great power, which they hold solely because they are accepted as Republicans, when by every test they are not. Removed from the party, their power and influence would be greatly reduced. And then the Republican party would definitely stand for something, without shifting compromises to pacify the insurgents, which even when made are seldom effective."

"Of course," suggests the PORT WORTH-TELEGRAM (Dem.) "the ancient motto, 'what is best for the good of the order' will prevail. Perhaps it should. Such co-operation is that which effects organization and organization is the bird in the hand that is more to be desired than great riches. If it were not for organization Republicans would present the exact state of chaos, that the Democrats display every time. Destiny deals a hand that shows some likelihood of capturing a presidential 'trick.' The ANNISTON STAR (Dem.) agrees that Senator Norris "is more of a Democrat than a Republican," adding that "if the Republicans do not want him, the Democratic party should be glad to have him." The GRAND RAPIDS PRESS (Ind.) comments: "A follow the leader Republican who would not step out on the occasional issue where he felt the party to be wrong would be a hopeless standpat. But a follow the leader Republican like Norris whose talking point is precisely his record for assuming that the party is usually wrong, is the opposite extreme and equally undesirable." Pointing out that Senator Norris "has always run for office as a Republican" and that he "has sought non-Republican votes, the LINCOLN STATE JOURNAL (Ind. Rep.) concludes: "The distressing thing is that if this country is to be governed by party action, the quarrel, which can result in no good to the party, will make futile all efforts to carry out party and administration policies. The blocking of legislation much needed will result. Not only party but government suffers."

THE PARENT PROBLEM

Let Baby Beg For Her Food Says Myers

Tells Mother Not To Force Meals On Small Child

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph. D.
Head Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

A mother writes from Lynn, Mass.: "Dear Dr. Myers: I've read so much of your advice in the paper. I've been wondering whether you could not help me out."

"My little girl is 18 months old now. I nursed her for eight months and then got a doctor's diet list, and went by that, but from the first of it she had refused her food. She seemed satisfied and is on the go all the time, also good natured. She has 16 teeth. Had the last one when she was 15 months. The water seems to just run out of her mouth steadily. Would her teeth cause that?"

"She gets cold, croup very easily and she has had cod liver oil since three months old. Has taken a medical preparation under a doctor's order for her appetite, but it has not improved. I've had her to baby doctors so much I am disgusted, as all they give me is the same diet as I used all along."

"I do hope you can help me. It hurts terribly when all the other babies as so fat and rosy. All my friends' children will eat all you would give them. I'll be looking forward for my answer in the Boston Sunday Post."

Answer: In the first place, mother, you have made your problem too much of a social condemnation. Your child is yours. Your problem is your own. The success of other mothers should have nothing to do with the case. Quit scolding yourself. I believe you will win at last if you are patient.

Make no effort to force food into the child. Give very small helpings. Serve only one thing at a time. When she refuses one food give no other until the next feeding time. Act like a machine. Show no feeling nor anxiety. Don't coax. Don't talk about the matter at all. Don't even look concerned. Place before the child the food you consider most important, say it is a vegetable mash, about a quarter of a teaspoonful. Place a spoon beside the food. If she uses her bare hand all well and good. Say nothing. Walk away.

At the end of about four minutes, if she has not begun to eat, remove the food without a word, and let the child get down. If she objects, act as if you did not see or hear her. No other food until the next meal. Then proceed in like manner, offering another important food. Continue in this fashion until she chooses to eat. Then make her beg for more and give sparingly. If she eats nothing for about two days better consult your doctor. She may lose weight, but don't worry. You are thinking of her weight two months hence, not now.

I know how hard it is to follow such a program. But I believe you have the stuff in you to see it through.

Good luck.

New Year's Parade In Philadelphia Is One Grand Spectacle

Estimate 15,000 Or More Take Part In Gigantic Parade Today

By E. L. RAWLEY
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

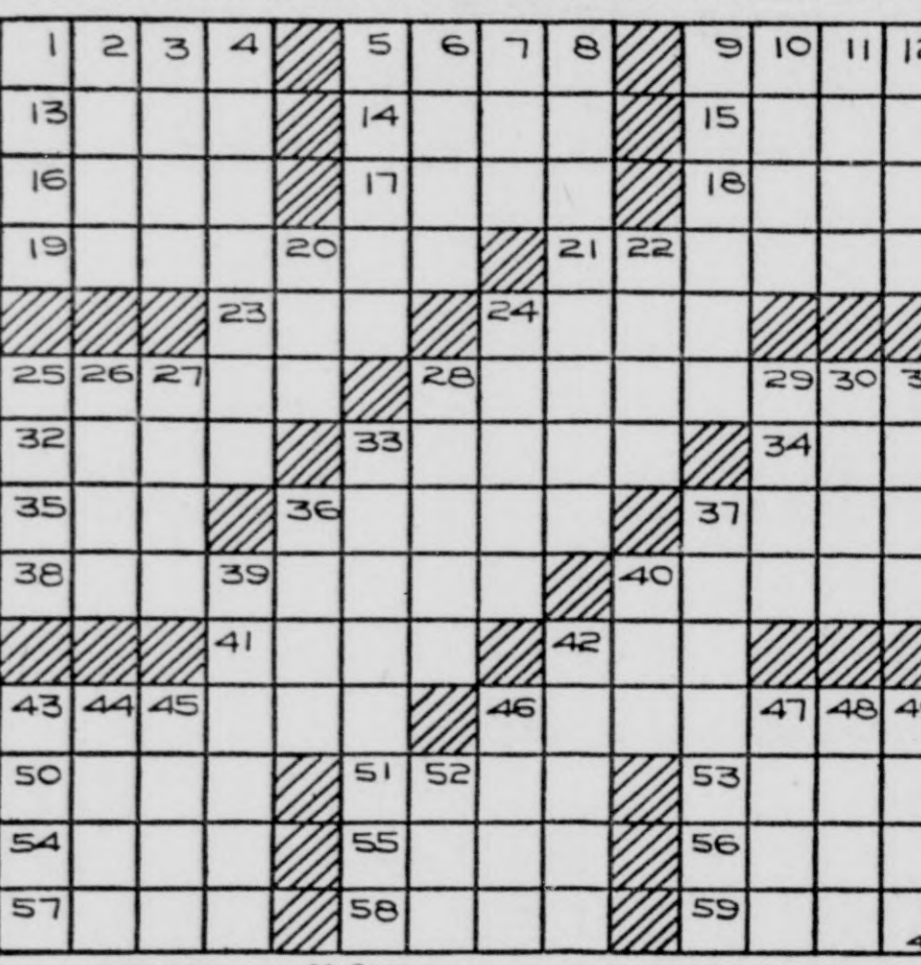

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 2.—Gaily laughing mimmers—15,000 or more—gaudily dressed in varied costumes of tinsel, silk and gold slashed with all the colors of the peacock, strutted and pranced along Broad street Thursday in Philadelphia's unique New Year's Day spectacle. Brightly dressed comedians and clowns with eight stringed bands furnished the accompanying entertainment.

The paraders strolled in the chilly frosty air although many were thinly clad. Rows after rows of curious onlookers lined the streets even as the march started at 8:30 a. m. onward past city hall and the judges' reviewing stand. Each marcher was intent on trying to appear the best before the watching officials for $30,000 in gold and prizes galore awaited the lucky winners.

The morning was clear and cold. Yet every arriving train hours before the start of the colorful parade brought thousands of anxious visitors for the annual event. Specials from New York brought fully 1500 while hundreds of others arrived by motor and rail from Washington, Baltimore, Atlantic City, Harrisburg, Altoona, Allentown, Shenandoah and other up-state Pennsylvania towns. Sixteen excursion trains were run by the Pennsylvania railroad alone.

About five hours were required for all the paraders to pass a given point.

Peter's Adventures

Commander misunderstood the queer sound and thought Peter was weeping.

"Don't mourn the loss of the Black Ants, Boy," she called out. "We Redskins will be as good friends as ever those weaklings were, and we can do lots more for you. I have the honor to inform you that I have been made Commander-in-chief of the Black Ant army, and I have come for your answer. Will you become one of us?"

"Yes!" declared Peter. Commander could scarcely believe what she heard.

"What?" she exclaimed, then quickly added: "Fine! I thought you would come to your senses!"

"I'd like to prick her with the point of my spear," thought Peter, then continued as though the Commander had not spoken.

"I will join your army upon certain conditions."

"What are they?" demanded Commander.

"That you will make me a commander, too, and allow me to pick my own warriors!" announced Peter.

"Good gracious!" exclaimed the Commander, but Peter continued as if there had been no interruption.

"More, I demand that you will allow me to come and go as I will, and ask me no questions!" Commander gasped.

"You don't want much!" exclaimed that leader, when she found her breath. "I must say you are daring. Why, what you ask might lead to a revolution in my army. What are my warriors going to think when they find you have so much liberty while they have none?"

Next: "Peter Joins the Redskins."

Income Tax Blanks Are Mailed Out

New Castle people will get a goodly part of the more than 250,000 income tax blanks which are to be mailed to residents of 24 counties in Western Pennsylvania today, by the Internal Revenue Department at Pittsburgh.

The law provides that income tax returns must be in the mails not later than March 15, as in previous years. The tax this year is 1 1/2 percent on the net income after deduction of the amount of exemption, the personal exemptions remaining the same as last year—$1,500 for unmarried men, and $3,500 for married men supporting their wives, and the heads of families.

Hicks are people who feel abused instead of worldly and sophisticated when they must stay up all night and get their sleep in daylight.

SMITH BROTHERS' COUGH SYRUP

Republican Regulars, Progressive Element Headed For Showdown

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—The holidays have not been so happy a season as usual in high-up Republican circles in Washington.

To most politicians the party looks to be driving hard in the direction of a regular Taft-Roosevelt split and its managers have been too worried to enjoy the festivities.

Of course the Democratic bosses have been correspondingly joyful.

Still, the threatened G. O. P. rift clouds even the Jeffersonians' prospects with a certain amount of uncertainty. Uprisings against authority are contagious. Mutiny in one major political group's ranks might encourage the unruly element on the other side to kick over the traces.

In the background, during several past administrations, the realization has lurked at both national headquarters that neither the Republican nor the Democratic organization represents a single principle any longer beyond the respective leaders' desire to stay in office or get into office and run things.

Virtually everyone knows that a realignment is needed, to give a real meaning to elections.

If the Republican party were to break in two, it would break, roughly speaking, into a conservative section and a liberal section. After that the natural thing would be for the Democratic party to break in two also, and then for the conservative Republicans and the conservative Democrats to join forces and the liberal Republicans to do likewise, forming two new parties.

That is to say, that's the answer to the problem, the way it works out on paper.

It failed to happen so in 1912, when the late Colonel Roosevelt tried to prove it by running for president as a progressive. It failed again in 1924, when a Republican and a Democrat, the late Senator Robert La Follette and Senator Burton K. Wheeler, tested it by running in combination as independent candidates for the presidency and vice presidency.

The flaw in the calculation is obvious.

vicious enough—the two old-line parties, which have ceased to signify anything, refuse to divide into two new parties, each of which does signify something; they divide into four or five or more new parties.

Three evidently is not the right number. It would seem as if Colonel Roosevelt and La Follette and Wheeler had demonstrated that conclusively.

Yet experimenters persist in monkeying with it.

Even now, as a result of the G. O. P. Ruckus, Senator Bronson Cutting of New Mexico, violently outraged by standpat Republicans' attacks upon Senator George W. Norris, is credibly reported to be negotiating with Clifford Pinchot, newly-elected governor of Pennsylvania relative to placing the latter at the head of a progressive Republican national ticket in 1932.

And then what?

Why, there would be two dry tickets in the field—the Pinchot ticket and, in all probability the Hoover ticket—and one wet ticket, for the Democrats' almost certainly will nominate a wet two years hence anyway, and would do so to an absolutely immortal cinch in such a contingency. And a perfect hedge-podge of voting would ensue, vastly entertaining but with about as much bearing as the Einstein theory upon any sort of party re-alignment, and likely also to leave the prohibition issue as muddled as ever—for a three-way result would be a conclusion mighty difficult to draw.

Nevertheless, it is hard to see how the Republican regulars and progressives can avoid going to the mat.

The pre-Hoover old guardmen do not want to do it.

However, they have no option, due to the policy shaped for their official organization by its executive director, Robert H. Lucas—or, to express it more exactly, due to the fact that he was caught in his activities.

True, the administration could have averted a fight by repudiating Director Lucas, but the defense of his course by such White House spokesmen as Senator Otis F. Glenn of Illinois and Representative Will R. Wood of Indiana forces all hands with any regard for regularity, to join in an effort to exterminate insurrection.

The insurgents are equally without a choice.

They have proof positive that at least one of their number, Senator Norris, was marked by Director Lucas of the G. O. P. national committee for a shot in the back during the last campaign, after Chairman Simeon D. Fees of the same committee had assured him of its support.

Naturally none of them feels safe with Director Lucas still on the job in his own rear, and they have it straight that there he will stay. Obviously they have got to fight.

Climate Of Buckeye State Is Hard On Noted Explorer

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 2.—Despite the icy winds and frigid temperatures he endured for two years while with Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd on the South Pole exploration adventure, Henry T. Harrison, Jr., thinks the climate of the Buckeye State is colder to him.

Harrison, who is now an assistant at the Cleveland Airport weather bureau, is actually puzzled about how he is going to keep warm during this winter.

"Gosh, I'm cold," he said, as he entered a Cleveland airport building when winter came to Cleveland recently with a freezing blast of wind. His teeth chattered.

"I suppose it was colder there at Little America, but it doesn't seem like it to me. I'm almost frozen."

"Why, it's only about freezing," he was told by G. G. Andrus, chief of the weather bureau staff, who pointed to a thermometer to prove his statement.

"It went under 50 below a couple of times at the pole," Harris retorted, "but it never affected me like this. Many times we had to thaw out our hands after we went out in the wind there, and frozen noses were quite the thing."

"But say," he continued, "can't we get some more heat here? I'm freezing."

For Bridge Wear Chic Parisienne Prefers Black

By ALICE LANGELIER
International News Service Staff

PARIS, Jan. 2.—Bridge ensembles for holiday wear are nearly always black ones. Black has long been the favorite of the chic Parisienne and will ever be thus from all appearances.

Made on princess lines comes a charming bridge ensemble in transparent black georgette with rippling volant of delicate black chiffon velvet attached below on an irregular line of jagged points. Large knots of the velvet are sewn down flat against the georgette appearing at intervals on sleeves and gown. The velvet coat worn with it has a large fur collar.

Another black bridge ensemble comes in glossy jet black ermine. Its hipcoat and wrapped skirt fasten on the same line at left front and is bound with silk braid. There is a severe cravat collar and straight coat-sleeves.

Mrs. E. Berry Wall, popular president of the American Women's Club in Paris, is wearing a bridge frock in black lace and breitschwanz. It has long sleeves and with it Mrs. Wall wears a little breitschwanz turban trimmed with a knot of blue and a turquoise pin.

"Dernier Cri" is Worth's beautiful bridge ensemble which has been chosen by a number of the smartest women this season, including Madame Paul Claudel and the Begun Aga Khan. It has the new triple black satin skirt and white satin tunic which fits tightly around the hips, tying on one side. There is a draped bodice and decolletage.

Autos Ran Into Trains 12 Times Out Of 33 In Past Year, Report Shows

See Carelessness On Part Of Drivers In Accident
Record Since 1926

FOUR CRASHES IN 1930 WERE FATAL

Peculiar as it seems, automobiles crashing into the side of trains or engines, bore responsibility for 12 of the 33 grade crossing accidents which occurred on the Pennsylvania E. & A. division during 1930, records compiled today disclosed. Engines struck autos in 12 cases.

The 1930 figure of smashups, four of them in the fatality class, was a notable reduction from the total of 35 for the preceding year. During the past twelve months six were killed; during 1929 there were five. Injuries were lower last year, although the number of deaths increased by one, it is revealed. During 1930 a total of 25 were hurt in the collisions as compared to 31 injured the year before.

Railroad officials here conclude that almost every crossing accident happens at a cross-over where ample protection is given, and where most of the autoists know dangers exist. Records indicate that strangers to the crossings are not often victims, but to the contrary, persons who have resided in the neighborhood of the crossings for years.

Recall Worst Crash
Tracing back the crossing accident of the division for the past several years, one discovers the worst record of late was set up in 1928. That year 14 lives were snuffed out on crossings, eight of them at one time.

Officials here recalled that gruesome 1928 crash today. It occurred on Sunday, May 13 of that year at a crossing near Espsville, Pa., not a great distance from Linesville, widely known for the dangers that were prevalent. Two different automobiles were racing together along the road, speeding at a rate far excessive to the laws laid down by the motor code. The drivers failed to observe their approach to a crossing—and also the approach of a speeding train. The result was inevitable, and the cars, with their human loads, careened against the side of the locomotive. The eight occupants, six in one and two in the other, were killed outright.

A summary report, interesting despite the figures, is given of accidents since 1926, up until the close of 1930 Wednesday night.

In 1926—Total of 63 accidents, 50 struck by trains and 13 resulting from cars striking the side of the trains or engines. Three killed; 33 injured.

In 1927—Total of 50 accidents, 29 struck by trains and 21 resulting from cars striking the side of trains or engines. Fourteen killed; 38 injured.

In 1928—Total of 60 accidents, 40 struck by trains and 20 resulting from cars striking the side of trains or engines. Five killed; 31 injured.

In 1929—Total of 55 accidents, 35 struck by trains and 20 resulting from cars striking the side of trains or engines. Five killed; 31 injured.

Four Are Fatal
The closing year's record of 33 cases, 21 of them struck by engines and 12 of them striking the trains, shows the effect of the everlasting drive being waged to reduce accidents. Warning methods are being improved at all times, while side crossings are being marked more and more to protect the motorists.

Fatal accidents this year occurred at Warren, O., where one was killed; at Simpson's crossing, Perry Highway, where two were killed; at Pulaski, one fatality, and at the Edensburg crossing where two young men met death.

Motorists had a mania for crashing through crossing gates during the past year, records indicating a total of 12 having sped through them in 1930, either because it was impossible to stop or to beat passing trains.

Dr. C. A. Reed To Head Medical Men

Named County Society President In New Year's Ballot; Dr. Popp Speaks

Dr. Charles A. Reed is the new president today of the Lawrence County Medical Society as a result of the annual election of officers which featured the New Year's night meeting of the doctors in the Y. M. C. A. The retiring president is Dr. D. C. Lindley.

The society, after elevating Dr. Reed to the presidency, elected the following to other capacities: Dr. J. Lumen Popp, vice president; Dr. W. A. Womer, secretary and Dr. W. C. Burchfield, treasurer. The membership re-elected its staff of officers, Dr. L. W. Wilson this city; Dr. H. M. Hart, New Wilmington and Dr. H. E. Helling, Ellwood City.

Turning to the discussion end of the meeting, the doctors listened to Dr. J. Lumen Popp's excellent paper "The Unconscious Patient." In an open forum, the physicians decided that pulmonic resuscitation efforts are not, best to use. They favored the physical methods, as advanced by the Boy Scouts, Red Cross and other first aid study groups.

Striking Display At Foot Of Tree On Court Street

Robert Campbell Builds City Of Bethlehem In Miniature Beneath Yule Tree

Just a day or two now and all the beautifully lighted and decorated Yule trees will be removed from the porches and front lawns of homes in the northern, southern, eastern and western parts of New Castle. In many cases the trees have already been dismantled and the brilliant trinkets and bulbs stored away to be used next year.

There are plenty of trees local citizens with appreciation for beauty will be sorry to see dismantled.

One particularly beautiful and unique display is that arranged by Robert Campbell, on the porch of the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Campbell, 722 Court street.

Lights have been strung up the posts of the porch and ranged tastefully through the limbs of the tree.

But most striking of all is the display on the floor, beneath the tree. Young Mr. Campbell has worked hard and has achieved a very realistic appearance of Bethlehem as it is described in the Bible on the evening of the birth of Christ. There is a manger, everything in detail as described. Outside are camels and people gathering to present gifts to the new born Savior. There is a star in the sky shining down on the manger and a scroll—"Peace on Earth Good Will To Men."

It is a work of art and great interest has been shown in it by all passers-by.

Four Hundred News Boys Dine

Receive Treat In Form Of Dinner At Leslie Hotel

What a growing boy can do to a man's sized dinner was fully displayed yesterday when 400 newsboys of the city were the dinner guests of Saul Lef and J. E. Rafiel, of the Leslie hotel, and if any of them departed from the dining room with the inner man not appeased it was his own fault. However, it isn't likely that any left without a stomach crammed full.

The boys commenced gathering at nine o'clock and the crowd was so big at 10 a. m. that it was deemed feasible to start dinner. As soon as the signal was given the boys formed in a column on two and filled the diningrooms. As fast as one would leave a chair another would take his place and it wasn't long until all had been taken care of.

It was the seventh banquet given by the hotel and the dinner was served by the waitresses and helpers among them were Al Simpson, ex-Mayor Dunlap, Bart Richards, Wallace Wynne, Joseph Chirozzi, Louis De Caprio, Mr. Anderson, Tommy Logan, Harry Levine, Attorney E. K. Blake, William Fleming and City Detective C. G. Logan and Ed. Ryan. Ed. Fritz arranged the plans for the hotel proprietors.

Who Was Murderer? Innocent Man Freed After Serving Ten Years For Mysterious Crime That Was Sensation Of Decade Ago

By Central Press
MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., Jan. 2

Lloyd Prevost is back home; a free man—after serving more than 10 years of a life term for murder in the state prison at Jackson, Mich. He is at liberty largely because of new evidence uncovered during the past few years by Judge William F. Sawn, former justice of the peace and, strangely enough it was Sawn who, in the performance of his official duties, was forced to issue just 11 years ago, the warrant charging Prevost with being the killer in one of the most amazing murder mysteries this state ever has known. It was from Sawn's court that Prevost was bound over to the circuit court.

"I never believed in my own heart that Lloyd was guilty," says Sawn. "That's why I did what I have done to set him free."

No Fee For Sawn
And there hasn't been a penny in it for Sawn. Because of his previous connection with the case, he could not accept a fee in his present role if he wanted to.

Full pardon was granted by Governor Fred W. Green on the ground that a long and thorough investigation showed Prevost innocent.

Prevost was convicted entirely by circumstantial evidence of the murder of his bosom friend and roommate, J. Stanley Brown, philanthropist, heir to a fortune left by his father, former Detroit manufacturer. Brown's body was found at the steering wheel of his own auto on a lonely road near this city on the morning of Dec. 24, 1919. He had been dead since about 11 o'clock the night before. He had been shot in the back of the head four times. A large sum of money was in his pocket. A $1,500 diamond ring was still on his finger.

Woman Charged, Released
Because of domestic troubles (he was married and the father of two small children) and his known habits as a "high stepper" there was no dearth of suspects, particularly among women. In fact, one woman was formally charged with the murder, but was later released.

With motives aplenty, clues galore and all the elements that make up a murder mystery of the first order—ranging from the victims expressed fear of death to mysterious footprints in the snow, a missing money belt which later was found, and conflicting testimony of ballistic experts—the early investigation developed into open political warfare between various branches of the law enforcing agencies.

In compliance with public clamor for definite action, Alex J. Groesbeck then attorney general for the state and later governor took charge of the case. It was his net of circumstantial evidence which caused Prevost to be arrested and convicted. Another prominent figure in the case was Alan Strauch, then police chief in Mount Clemens and now head of the United States secret service of the state of New York.

Prevost, who has protested his innocence from the start was convicted largely on these points, as established by circumstantial evidence: 1. Motive—Alleged jealousy over some woman as the outgrowth of numerous parties Prevost and Brown had attended together. 2. Leaving the home of friends about 10:30 on the fatal night. Brown remarked that he was going to meet Prevost.

3. The landlady of Prevost and Brown first declared Prevost had gone to his room about 9 p. m. and had not left again. Later she said he had gone out and had not returned until the early hours of the morning, saying her to say he had been in early.

4. Ballistic expert of the state said the bullets which killed Brown were fired from a revolver found in the office of the express company where Prevost worked, and to which he had access. An expert for the defense declared the bullets had not come from this gun.

Suspicious Fact
5. State proved that a few days prior to the murder Prevost had handed a revolver to a young nephew and had requested him to get it loaded. Prevost claimed this revolver had been borrowed from a relative.

Lloyd Prevost

ative for Brown to use, and that he had had it loaded for Brown because Brown feared trouble with the admirer of a woman with whom Brown had frequently kept company.

Prevost was 24 when he was sentenced. Leaving prison at 34, he is considerably heavier and in excellent health. In prison he had been a model prisoner, and has become recognized as an X-ray expert in state hospital circles, as the result of his work in the Jackson prison hospital.

Besides Judge W. F. Sawn, those most active in the work of securing his release were Prevost's own brothers, Dove J. Prevost and Frank Prevost.

Record Advance Made By School

Fredonia Vocational School
Jumps From Last To Second Place

MERCER, Pa., Jan. 2.—From last place to second within one year is the exceptional record made by the Fredonia Vocational School during 1930.

There are 127 schools in Pennsylvania that have a department of vocational training for boys and girls. The state is the home of 67 that are devoted entirely to this training without offering any academic branches.

There are 72 boys in the vocational school at Fredonia which is devoted to training them for farm work. Pupils of Delaware and Fairview township are combined with the town of Fredonia in one school district in the support of this school, their graded schools remaining in their individual districts.

HUGE GAME KILL
MERCER, Pa., Jan. 2.—Game hunting in this county is assuming wild west proportions, the report of Game Protector O. A. Perschke shows. During the rabbit season 53,000 cotton tails were shot. The deer season resulted in the shooting of 10 legally and three illegal killings.

Eight of the animals were killed in the Hendersonville community in Worth Township where they have a run-away between this county and the thick forests of Venango. It was estimated this summer that a herd of 200 were in this locality.

COUNTY DEBT LARGE
Mercer county ushers in 1931 with the following financial statement: Bonded indebtedness included in road bond issues No. 1-2-3-4 and No. 16,000 that remains of the $39,600 funding bond issue amounts to $2-367,000.

The road bond issues were authorized by elections of 1919 and 1921. Treasurer G. R. McQuiston announces that the county will save $1120 during 1931 in the four mill state tax paid on their bonds by his discovery that $280,000 of these bonds are held outside the state which puts it up to them to collect. The county also is carrying a floating debt of $280,000 inherited by the present boards from their predecessors.

AUTO SUIT FILED
Two automobile damage suits were filed here today. This variety of damage suits constitutes two-thirds of the common pleas court filings. Mike Jackintelle of Lowellville, O., sues Nick Zabych of Farrell for $5-000 personal damage and $500 injury to his auto as result of damage suit of April 6th, 1930.

O. M. Sandell trading as Ideal Bakery of Farrell sues Chas. Szabo of Sharon for $700 damage to his auto result of accident of August 13, 1930 in Sharon.

AGED SQUIRE ILL
Squire T. W. McClain for 32 years a justice of the peace at Mercer and one of the oldest in county service is seriously ill at his Butler St. home with an ulcerated stomach condition.

AUDIT COUNTY BOOKS
W. C. Barker, Mercer attorney starts work at once on the audit of the clerk of courts, recorded and probatory offices to make distribution of costs between county and state. It is his third appointment to this post by Judge J. A. McLaughry.

HELD IN THEFT
R. W. Johnson of Coolspring Twp was remanded to jail for 30 days last evening charged with theft of a blanket. He had been living in a hut near Mercer trapping. The complaint was made by Lawrence Baringer.

Big Graf Zeppelin

Flew Well and Far

(International News Service)

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Jan. 2.—"Graf Zeppelin" Germany's dirigible veteran, has spanned the globe more than five times, theoretically speaking.

The airship so far has performed 155 flights covering altogether 231-000 kilometers, roughly estimated, which is more than five times the length of the equator. Its flying season has now ended and the airship will be kept in the hangar during the winter months, when it will be thoroughly overhauled, the gas bags emptied, examined, if necessary, replaced and the skeleton and the motors carefully investigated. Following this examination the Zeppelin works experts will determine the dirigible's duration of life.

During its flights the "Graf" carried 6,278 passengers, 5,530 kilogram freight and 8,880 kilogram mail. In 1930 alone the airship made 104 flights covering 114,000 kilometers. These flights included trips to South America, to Spitzbergen, to Iceland and to Moscow. Only five flights on schedule had to be postponed on account of unfavorable weather.

The Zeppelin works announce that the proposed polar flight in 1931 depends on the "economic situation" meaning that it will only be made if the trip warrants the tremendous expenses connected with it.

In the meantime the Zeppelin works are preparing to commence the construction of "LZ128" in the newly erected hangar. The ship will be bigger than the "Graf" and be filled with helium gas to exclude any possibility of an explosion and consequent disaster.

Will power is the quality a mechanic exercises occasionally when his hands are messy and he sees new auto cushions.

Millions Of Holiday Greetings Described As Not Deliverable

By ARCE FOLEMAN
First Assistant Postmaster General
Approximately 4,000,000 Christmas and holiday greetings did not reach their destination this year.

This estimate is based upon the past experiences of the Dead Letter office. Seventy-five per cent of this large amount of undeliverable Christmas mail constitutes Christmas cards and similar greetings, and the valuable inclosures in this mail greatly exceed those for the average run of mail for the rest of the year.

Often in sending a Christmas card the sender will also enclose a dollar bill, expensive handkerchief or some other valuable article.

A greater percentage of Christmas mail is undeliverable than is other mail during the year. The principal reasons for this are the fact that there is a disinclination on the part of the sender to place his return address on the envelope or enclose it with the Christmas card.

All other classes of mail increase in the same proportion of undeliverable pieces at Christmas time as does first-class, with the exception of parcel post. There is a strong tendency to have the parcel post packages insured, in which case a return of the article is possible. However, because of the failure of the sender to wrap his packages properly, there is a great increase at Christmas time in the number of articles found loose in the mails.

There are four Dead Letter office centers. They are at New York, Chicago, San Francisco and Washington, D. C. The Washington office receives its first large quota of Christmas mail from Philadelphia about the first Tuesday in January. There were about 106,000 letters in this allotment last year.

The normal receipts of dead letters average from 18,000 to 28,000 on the Washington office, depending upon the day of the week. Following the Christmas holidays the figure reaches its peak around January 20 and 25, when hundreds of thousands of undeliverable Christmas letters are on hand.

The Dead Letter office, although it increases its force about 50 per cent, is not able to work it way out of the deluge of Christmas letters until about the middle of February.

Hunters Wreak Havoc On Game In Central Idaho

(International News Service)
LEWISTON, Idaho, Jan. 2.—The past year has been a fatal one for big game in Central Idaho. An army of 1874 hunters made life miserable for the forest denizens and took a toll of 981 from the big game ranks.

The kills were classified as 521 deer, 402 elk, 32 goats and 26 bears, according to game warden control stations.

Harry Walrath, assistant chief game warden, estimated the hunters paid an average of $1 per pound

Despite the increase in the hunting ranks, big game is increasing, according to Walrath. He estimates the herds have doubled in size in the past five years.

Arms His Butler To Guard Guests

(International News Service)
BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Jan. 2.—The combination guardian law and order and server of soup has made his appearance in a fashionable Beverly Hills household.

More than a score of guests were at dinner in the home of Homer Laughlin, banker, the other evening when one of the women guests, who was wearing a costly diamond necklace saw a heavy pistol in the hip pocket of the butler.

She tried to hide her jewels with her hands and her sudden alarm spread to other women guests.

Laughlin calmed the agitation. "This is not a hold-up," Laughlin told his guests. "My butler used to be a soldier, and I had him arm himself tonight because of the wave of party banditry. And he will be armed from now on."

Had Nothing To Do, So He Got Married

(International News Service)
DENVER, Jan. 2.—Denver police recently received a novel and original formula for the solution of the economic problems confronting the city's unemployed.

Leo Segura, 30, was taken into custody at the request of Fidel Limon. Limon said that Segura had run off with his 16-year-old daughter Victoria, and married her without the parental blessing.

"Where do you live," police asked Segura.

"Well, no place right now."

"What do you do?"

"Oh, nothing. I was hauling wood for 15 cents a day and board, but I thought I might go into a new business, so I quit."

"Then what did you do?"

"Oh, I went ahead and got married."

Parisian Blind To Get Official White Canes

(International News Service)
PARIS, Jan. 2.—Blind persons who wish to walk about Paris unaccompanied will be provided with white canes in the future. They will bear an official seal of the city on a metal disc and be made of light bamboo. It is hoped that the white cane will mean a quick appeal for help when crossing streets, etc., and thus many unfortunate accidents to the blind will be avoided.

Lamb Lives 18 Days Under Snowdrift

(International News Service)
ROCKY FORD, Colo., Jan. 2.—Buried alive under a snowdrift for 18 days, a lamb belonging to a sheep feeder in the Arkansas valley, is recovering from the effects of his long fast.

Many sheep which were caught in the heavy snowstorm which buried the lamb died of starvation before they could be dug from under the drifts.

What is the legend which is woven about "The Fontaine," a spot outside of Rome?

The Fontaine, which means "Three Fountains," was the traditional scene of Saint Paul's martyrdom. According to the legend, it was here that, when the apostle's head was struck off, it made three bounds, and at each spot a spring gushed forth. Over the springs stands the church of Saint Paul without the walls, which contains the column to which Saint Paul was bound.

What is the gulf stream?

The gulf stream is the most important and best-known current in the Atlantic ocean, deriving its name from the Gulf of Mexico, out of which it flows between the coast of Florida on the west and the Bahamas on the east. Its breadth in the narrowest portion is about 50 miles, and its depth about 2,000 feet; the velocity averages between two and three miles per hour, reaching an extreme of five or six miles in some localities. This stream has a temperature several degrees higher than the ocean. Its direction is northeasterly, flowing past and keeping the British Isles temperate.

What was the Trent Affair?

The Trent Affair was a diplomatic episode growing out of the seizure by an American vessel on November 8, 1861, during the Civil war in America, of two Confederate commissioners on board a British mail steamer. In the autumn of 1861 the Confederate government sent John S. Milledge and James M. Mason as commissioners to France and England, respectively. They embarked at Havana for England on the British mail steamer "Trent." On November 8 Captain Charles Wilkes of the United States vessel San Jacinto stopped the Trent and took the commission as prisoners. Although this act was applauded by many people, President Lincoln and Secretary of State Seward recognized its impropriety and disapproved it, and when a formal demand was made by the British ministry for the surrender of the two men, it was complied with and an apology

Fire Pit Of Volcano Serves As Golf Hole

Veriest Beginner Is Given A Chance At Fame At Kilauea, The Home Of Pele

There's a golfer's paradise in Hawaii where every player can capture that much coveted hole in one. The course is located at Kilauea, Hawaii's picturesque and smoldering volcano.

"Kilauea in the Home of Pele, goddess of volcanoes" writes Irene Kuhn in Liberty Magazine. "Pele is a temperamental goddess and when she's hot she's very, very hot, and when she's quiescent she's something to inspire you with respect for a hole in the ground."

"From the porch of the Volcano House, on the brink of the crater, across a sea of dead lava, is seen the yawning mouth of the fire pit: Halemaumau constantly spitting clouds of smoke and steam."

"Pele may still be sacred to a few Hawaiians, rapidly dying from their impact with civilization, but golf is more sacred to the civilizers who are very much alive. One of the attractions of the Hawaiian volcano is the chance that is given the veriest beginner to make a hole in one there. The golf course at the volcano is so arranged that the fire pit itself is a hole."

Museum Displays Gifts To Lindy, Numbering 2,123

By EUGENE J. ROGUSKI
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 2.—Decorations and gifts presented to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, following his memorable non-stop trans-Atlantic flight from New York-to-Paris in May, 1927, which are on display at the Jefferson Memorial here total 2,123, according to a recent inventory.

The inventory, conducted by Mrs. Nettie Beauregard, archivist and curator of the Missouri Historical Society, revealed that gifts of pictures, poems and music lead the list, there being 523 under that classification. Ranking second, are miscellaneous items, followed by books and games with 298 and 287 respectively.

In the prized collection, is a souvenir of the world war, presented to Colonel Lindbergh by Captain B. Verd of the Lafayette Escadrille, the French Air Corps, which many Americans joined before the United States entered the great war.

The souvenir shows an Indian Head, painted in water color, surrounded by the signatures of members of the Escadrille. The Indian head was the emblem painted on the side of the planes of the Escadrille. The signatures of Lufbery, Hinkle, De Laage, Willis, Hurrit and Haviland, all of whom died in action, are among those on the souvenir.

Among other articles in the famous collection is the map Colonel Lindbergh used in his historical flight, the aviation suit he wore during the flight and the canteen carried in his famous plane, "The Spirit of St. Louis."

Other items in the list include: Medals, 118; silver cups, trays, etc., 37; statuary plaques, 55; watches, clocks, 13; keys to cities, 18; stick pins, 6; rings, 9; pens and pencils, 15; miscellaneous jewelry, 39; coins, 9; badges and lodge emblems, 38; purses and pocketbooks, 21; religious articles, 26; lamps, 3; membership passes, 44; testimonials, 196; maps, 40; model planes, 48; hardware, wrenches, 17; laces and linen, 57; toilet articles, 54; clothing, 82; hats, 11; sporting goods, pipes, 24; ornaments, 8; dolls, 26, and tables 2.

Need New System Of Tax Valuation

Fayette County Official Would Eliminate Township And Ward Assessors

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 2.—"The inequality of the tax burden is an outrage to the property owners of Fayette county," declared County Commissioner George W. Hibbs of Uniontown as he met here with other members of the board as a court of appeals on the triennial assessment.

"Fayette county property is assessed anywhere from 10 to 150 per cent of its market value," he emphasized "market value" as the basis of assessment and then added that there were not 10 persons in Fayette county qualified to do the work. "And when I say 10, I'm very conservative," he added.

"We need a new system of assessing property," Mr. Hibbs continued. "Just imagine, we are using laws enacted 150 years ago. The commissioners are allowed 30 days in which to go over the county to hear appeals and try to clear up complaints. In reality it would take a board of competent men two years to do the work in the right way."

If Mr. Hibbs had his way, the commissioners would be permitted to select 10 men to assess the entire county and discard the present system, under which there are nearly 60 assessors. Property would then be assessed at its market value and an equitable assessment made.

Several hundred persons filed a protest against increases in valuations. Others declared there should be a reduction in view of the economic conditions prevalent.

Mother Gives Life To Save Daughter

LILLY, Pa., Jan. 2.—An attempt of a mother to save her 14-year-old daughter from a burning home here, resulted fatally for Mrs. Eva Cioigla, 50, who died at a Johnstown hospital from burns received. Recall Doctor's Ordeal Of Fire To Save Woman

(International News Service)
BOSTON, Jan. 2.—The cry of "fire" was plainly audible to the tense, silent group in the operating room of the Trull Homeopathic hospital in Biddleford, Me., where Dr. Nathan Emerson was performing a serious operation in an effort to save the life of Mrs. Carrie Spinney of Bath, Me., wife of Capt. E. D. Spinney of the United States life-saving station at Pelham Beach. It was early in the morning of a stormy winter day in 1906.

Physicians and nurses in the operating room continued their task, ignoring the fire which was in an adjoining room. The flames gained headway and soon the room was filled with smoke. Flames were breaking through the wall.

Mrs. Spinney was under anesthetic and to halt the operation, or to move her from the hospital into the swirling snow outside would have proved fatal. Dr. Emerson moved his patient to a lower floor and continued the operation. In a short while the room was filled with smoke, and burning brands fell around the calm workers. One of the aiding doctors was badly burned.

Firemen worked all around Dr. Emerson and water poured into the room. At one time Dr. Emerson stood knee deep in the cold, freezing water. The surgeon worked in plain view of hundreds of persons who had gathered in the blizzard at the scene of the gripping tableau. The moving of patients from the hospital to other places of safety added to the confusion.

At the completion of the operation, Mrs. Spinney was removed to the nurses' home where she was told of the heroic action of Dr. Emerson in facing a vital situation hardly duplicated even on a battlefield.

The operation brought Dr. Emerson fame throughout the medical profession and wide renown for his bravery.

Recently, Dr. Emerson underwent a serious operation, and did not regain consciousness. He died at his home on the grounds of the Emerson hospital at Jamaica Plain, where he was chief surgeon, less than 24 hours after the death of his wife, Mrs. Carlotta Emerson, at Palmer Memorial hospital, Roxbury.

The body of Dr. Emerson was cremated and will be buried with Mrs. Emerson in the spring. Dr. Emerson was born in Boston, March 6, 1854. He received his master degree from Bowdoin college and his medical degree from Boston university.

He had numerous medical connections and wrote a number of reviews and articles on medical subjects and was a frequent contributor to medical magazines.

Pennsy Boy Amazes Mother

"Frank's stomach was often upset and he suffered a lot from colds," says Mrs. M. Zuschlag, 2248 So. 66th St., Philadelphia. "He was feverish and his breath was bad. I found he was constipated."

"My mother used California Fig Syrup with us, so I decided to give Frank some. It surely surprised me to see how quickly it stopped his feverishness, cleared his breath and tongue, regulated his bowels, made him a strong and energetic boy again."

The quick, safe way to cleanse and regulate the bowels of bilious, headachy, constipated children is with California Fig Syrup. Give it at the first sign of bad breath, coated tongue, listlessness or feverishness. Every child loves its rich, fruity flavor and it acts without griping or discomfort. Appetite is increased by its use; digestion is assisted; weak stomach and bowels are given tone and strength.

For fifty years, doctors have endorsed this pure vegetable product. The genuine is always marked by the word California. Look for that when buying or you may get an imitation.

Explains Why 'Maru' On Japanese Ships

(International News Service)
BOSTON, Jan. 2.—What does the word "Maru" mean on Japanese vessels? Does it mean ship, or marine?

According to Frank K. Bell, steamship official, the word "Maru" means neither but is the name of the Japanese god of the sea. Bell said he had received so many requests for the meaning of the word that he made a special study of it.

"It was the belief of the Japanese that it was Maru who taught them to make crafts that would float on the sea and carry merchandise," Bell said. "Since Japan is a maritime nation, the god Maru became one of the most beloved. No Japanese ship owner would think of sending a vessel to sea without the Maru incorporated in the name."

Congressman Blanton Would Give President Power In Enforcement

Rep. Blanton, Texas, Says Hoover Should Be Allowed To Use Federal Forces

Army, Navy And State Militia Could Very Shortly Stamp Out Liquor Evils

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Congress should give President Hoover power to use the army, navy and state militias to enforce the prohibition, anti-narcotic and alien laws if it sincerely believes in law enforcement, Rep. Blanton, (D) of Texas, declared today.

As one of the chief spokesmen of the militant prohibitionists of the house, Blanton issued his demands for more and better enforcement as an acceptance of the challenge of the "wet bloc" which is driving for repeal or modification.

There can be no compromise, the militant Texan asserted. He denied reports that dry forces may seek a compromise if the Wickersham law enforcement commission should recommend modification of the present prohibition laws.

Plans Three Bills
Three bills will furnish the cornerstone of a drive opened by Blanton for better enforcement. One places the army, navy and militia at the disposal of the president; another provides that diplomats who might refuse to obey the prohibition laws shall be sent home, and the third provides for impeachment of every federal officer who purchases intoxicating liquors.

Blanton has been favored by some dries as the unofficial dry leader of the house after expiration of the term of Rep. Cramton (R) of Michigan.

Membership Tea Pleasing Event

Fifty Members Of Y. W. C. A. Gather On Thursday For New Years Tea

A social event of real enjoyment took place in the Y. W. C. A. social parlors on Thursday. It was the occasion of the annual New Year's Tea of the membership and was attended by fifty women, all of whom are members of the local association.

Tea during the early hours of the gathering was poured by Mrs. John E. Elliott, president of the board of directors and Miss Dell Davidson, a member of the board. Later tea was poured by Mrs. J. L. Stratton and Mrs. W. W. Sniff, members of the board.

Under the direction of Dr. Mildred Rogers and her membership committee, everything moved with a delightful smoothness, the program was excellent, most of the members were acquainted with each other and those that weren't were introduced by the members of the receiving committee and by the end of the afternoon all agreed that it was one of the most enjoyable membership events ever held.

Members of the senior Girls Reserve club, under the leadership of the president, Miss Jane Hawkins, served the luncheon. Aiding Miss Hawkins were Misses Ruth Brennehan, Evelyn Swanson, Virgil Wetlich, Katherine Boston, Gretchen Smith, Isabel Balph, Dorothy Cain, Julia Sidley, Dorothy Patch, Rosalind Seamons, Dorothy Sankey and Madge Gardner.

Special committees took charge of the preparing of the refreshments and the arrangements of the program.

Music was furnished throughout the afternoon by Clarence Hammond at the piano, Danny Cassello, violin and Paul McCurdy, trombone. Mr. McCurdy offered a pleasing trombone solo.

Vocal solos were given by Mrs. H. H. Rosenthal and Mrs. Elizabeth Fleming. Mrs. Rosenthal was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Fleming. Miss Shuler was the accompanist during the solo by Mrs. Fleming.

The social room was prettily decorated and the chairs and settees were arranged in a circle around the walls.

In every way the event was a decided success.

feet daily. It is the third well obtained in this locality and is said to be the largest ever drilled. It was obtained at a depth of 800 feet in the Berea Grit sand. Fine Not Sufficient For Drunken Drivers

Movement Is Growing In State To Jail All Drunken Drivers

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 2.—Jail sentences for drunken drivers were recommended today by S. Edward Gable, president of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, State unit of the American Automobile Association, as the most effective means of curbing what he termed "the growing menace of the zig-zagger."

"Bootleg rum and motor cars do not mix," he said, "and every motorist who tries such a combination should be dealt with an drastic way. A drunken man or woman at the wheel of an automobile is a potential murderer. With senses blurred by rum, this type of driver not only is oblivious of the safety and the rights of others, but is incapable of handling a motor vehicle. A mere fine is not sufficient punishment for this offense."

Mr. Gable called attention to the announcement by President Judge John M. Groff of the Lancaster County Courts that, beginning December 27, he will mete out a jail sentence to every motorist convicted of drunken driving. This policy was concurred in by Assistant Judge B. C. Atlee, the Federation head explained, and will be adhered to in a determined effort to break up the practice of drunken driving.

"The judiciary realizes what the growing menace of the zig-zagger means to all users of our streets and highways," Mr. Gable said, "and in numerous cases county judges have gone on record as favoring severe penalties for the drunken driver. This attitude on the part of the courts is most commendable, and certainly is appreciated by the great body of motorists in Pennsylvania, and by the general public as well."

Co-operation of motorists in the crusade to rid the streets and highways of Pennsylvania of the drunken driver was urged by the Federation president. "In this the average individual has a duty to perform," Mr. Gable explained. "When a motorist or a pedestrian happens across a flagrant case of zig-zag driving he should report it immediately to the nearest motor patrol station, police headquarters or motor club. By this he not only is safeguarding himself, but all others on the highway. Delay in reporting such cases, thus leaving the drunken driver to continue endangering the lives of all on the highway, often results in accidents that could have been averted had no time been lost in getting the intoxicated operator off the road."

Aversion of the average person to being brought into the prosecution of a law-violating driver should not restrain him or her from acting in cases such as this, Mr. Gable said, for the person reporting the violation need not figure in the matter after police arrive on the scene.

Send Treasures Of Peiping Art To Other Cities

(International News Service)

PEIPING, Jan. 2.—"We have sufficient priceless porcelains ranging from the Sung dynasty (ended in 1900 A. D.) to the last dynasty, to stock nine more museums," Dr. J. C. Ferguson, American critic of oriental art, and sole non-Chinese member of the Museum Board which controls the Forbidden City with its treasures from China's past imperial families, told the International News Service. "Therefore, it has been my aim for the past five years to see a distribution of these objects of art to other centers in China so that more people might see and admire instead of restricting that privilege to the few who could afford to come to the Peking Palaces."

Dr. Ferguson's idea has borne fruit and a division of the treasures is about to be made with a portion going to Nanking and another to Mukden. Thus even though one of the recurring civil wars should cut visitors off from coming northward to Peking, they could easily make the short trip to Nanking, China's new capital, and see a representative collection of Chinese porcelains, paintings, jades, bronzes and other objects of priceless artistic value.

Some idea of the vastness of the collection which is now chiefly packed away in wooden boxes, can be obtained from the fact that the palaces in the Forbidden City now opened as a museum, number more than one hundred great rooms and even they are not large enough to house an exhibition of the treasures. According to Dr. Ferguson, the Museum Board has between 10,000 and 15,000 Chinese paintings, a great portion of which are important historically as well as valuable artistically.

Dr. Ferguson, graduate of Boston University, speaks and reads Chinese fluently, is author of numerous works on Chinese art, and is in a very flattering position with regards to the Imperial Museum. It is not usual for the Chinese to trust a foreigner in such a responsible place as custodian of such an invaluable collection. "I washed every piece of this fragile and irreplaceable porcelain with my own hands," Dr. Ferguson explained with pride, pointing out a showcase full of Sung dynasty vases and bowls, the color and thinness of an egg-shell.

"When we pulled out cabinet drawers during our first visit to some of the palace rooms for the purpose of making the inventory we found boxes covered two inches deep with dust which in all likelihood lay undisturbed since the boxes were placed there nearly two centuries ago," said Dr. Ferguson.

The collection exhibited in Peiping will not suffer either in quality or quantity because of the pieces being shipped to Nanking and Mukden according to Dr. Ferguson. "There is no point in displaying in one museum several specimens of the same bowl or vase and we have duplicate and triplicates of most of our pieces," he explained.

The Forbidden City is surrounded by a thirty foot wall which is in the form of a square and is more than a mile long on the sides. Building after building rises inside and each of them houses a group of imperial objects of art which would make an occidental museum curator's mouth water with envy. Rooms of authenticated bronzes, dating back to a thousand years before Christ, carved jades nearly as old, fabrics, paintings, carved and painted ivory, and everything which an autocratic Chinese emperor craved and obtained, are all to be seen in this one spot, where the yellow tile roofs rise in fantastic curves against the clear blue sky of Peking.

South Wales Miners Are Out On Strike

Britain Looks To Government To Settle Speedily Strike Effecting 140,000

(International News Service)
LONDON, Jan. 2.—Britain looked hopefully to the government today for a speedy settlement of the dispute between miners and operators in the coal mine district of South Wales, where 140,000 men refused to continue work when a reduction in wages threatened.

Disorders have been averted so far, but all mine entrances are heavily picketed. The miners' federation had allowed 10,000 safety men to stay on the job.

Meanwhile a decisive meeting between government, conciliatory board and mine operators will be held tomorrow, when definite action will probably be decided upon.

Lash Threatened For Wife Beaters
Revival Of Whipping Post Hinted At By Irate Maryland Jurist

SALISBURY, Md., Jan. 2.—Revival of the whipping post for wife beaters was threatened by Judge S. King White, who said he was exasperated by the number of such cases brought before him.

He said if the cases continued to increase he would impose the maximum of forty lashes.

White beating is the only crime for which the lash may be supplied in this State.

He expressed the opinion that the whipping post has proven a crime deterrent in States in which it has survived notably in Delaware and New England.

Gradual Improvement For Business Is Seen

Business Leaders Of Nation Predict Gradual Ascent To Normal Conditions

Future Outlook Is Very Promising, Financial Situation Not Near So Acute

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Gradual improvement in business in 1931 was forecast Thursday by the Merchants Association of New York. A survey among business leaders of various lines was the basis of the prediction.

Opinions of some of the business chiefs on this year's outlook follow: Willis H. Booth, banker: "With the banking situation getting better, the commercial situation improving and the opportunity for a better volume of foreign trade than a hasty judgment might indicate, we are approaching the time when we will have enough encouragement to forget our troubles, and that time will measure the upturn in the depression."

Arthur Lehman, merchant: "Most of the elemental defects in this situation which initially caused the setback in business and in values have been corrected. We must now await the return of confidence which, in my opinion, will be slow. I believe that improvement may reasonably be expected in 1931. It will, however, be gradual and to realize greater profits in 1931 than in 1930 will require hard work and careful economy."

Eugene P. Thomas, steel man: "The future outlook is promising, since in any previous depression the financial situation as a whole was more acute. Temporary restriction in demand results in cumulative consumptive requirements. Other countries are awaiting the revival here. The eventual return of their normal purchasing power will find an immediate reflection in their demand for our farm products and manufactured goods, which should stimulate increased employment of plant and labor beyond the mere dollar value of increased foreign trade."

David H. Knott, hotel man: "Our own experience in the purchasing of supplies for a chain of 40 hotels and restaurants is significant. In short, we are unable now to get anything like normal delivery on large quantities."

"There has obviously been just a little too much husbandry of resources. The law of demand itself is about ready to put an end to this unnatural economic condition, and after the holiday season, a pronounced increase in business may be expected. It is inevitable that times are going to be better and that the change is right upon us."

A. C. Pearson, publisher: "The outlook for 1931 is that the first six months will be below the same period of 1929 and 1930, but the second six months will doubtless be ahead of 1930 and approximately up to 1929."

William Fellowes Morgan, manufacturer: "During the past year the 'producers, whether it be of good products, clothing, automobiles or what not, have had to carry most of the burden resulting from the extravagance of the past few years, but I believe that this year we will see quite a change, and that just as soon as the general public begins to show any disposition to buy the retailers whose shelves are getting pretty bare will be forced to buy goods to fill their orders and thus the manufacturers will be encouraged to start up again. What we need is a little courage."

H. C. Turner, construction company head: "I believe that improvement in the building industry is due and must occur in 1931. Building costs are 15 to 20 per cent lower than they have been in six or eight years and they are not likely to go materially lower."

"1931 will offer many advantages for the erection of new buildings. Materials will be low in cost and easily secured. Labor will be abundant, will seek employment and work industriously, and buildings well conceived and planned will find occupants."

Prefers Jail To His Nagging Wife

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Edward Brink, 26, actor, entered the West 47th Street police station with his pretty blonde wife early today and begged to be put in jail "for just one night."

"She nagging me to death," Brink told Lt. Moran.

"Can't do it," Moran replied. "Jail's full of college students—47 of 'em."

With a dour look at Moran, Brink dove at Policeman Decker, getting a strangle hold on him. Four other policemen finally pulled him loose—and led him away to the West Thirtieth Street station where there were plenty of empty cells.

Parents Disagree, Co-Eds Can't Smoke

(International News Service) ORONO, Me., Jan. 2.—Co-eds at the University of Maine must continue the practice of slipping behind buildings, down back roads or into automobiles if they wish to puff on their favorite brands of cigarettes, for a query sent out recently to the parents of the students revealed to college authorities an almost equal division of opinion on the question of smoking among the feminine students.

Hence, no decision has been made by college heads and smoking by co-eds remains in the same status as before.

For weeks the topic of smoking has engaged the attention of the students and the letter columns of the student weekly, "Maine Campus", have been used to air the views of students on the question. Interviews among the students disclosed that the co-eds who smoke far outnumber those who do not.

Proposes World Wide Peace Pact Holiday

(International News Service) LONDON, Jan. 2.—Proposals have been put forward by Dr. Norwood, well-known Free church leader, for a universal peace holiday to be celebrated annually on August 27, the date on which the Paris peace pact was signed.

The peace pact renouncing war as an instrument of national policy was signed in Paris in 1928 by the plenipotentiaries of 15 nations, and later adhered to by 38 more nations.

Race To Perfect Immunizing Of British Cattle

By F. A. WRAY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Jan. 2.—Three English scientists are racing with M. Henri Spahlinger to perfect a method of successfully immunizing cattle against tuberculosis.

Spahlinger's method has already been tested and approved by a very strong British committee, including Lord Crewe and a number of prominent scientists. So strong is the belief in its merits that a powerful syndicate has been formed to put it on a commercial basis.

The Englishmen concerned are Dr. Stanley Griffiths and Professor Buxton of Cambridge University, and Dr. Andrews, the expert of the Ministry of Agriculture.

The first two are working day and night at Cambridge under the auspices of the medical research council, the money for their experiments having been provided by the British Empire Marketing Board.

Dr. Andrews is equally busy at the station of the Ministry of Agriculture at New Hall, Weybridge.

"All the experiments are intensely interesting and very helpful," says Sir Ralph Jackson, chief veterinary surgeon of the ministry.

"But we realize that other methods are in the field, and a government department must exercise the strictest impartiality."

"We do not care in the least who stamps out tuberculosis in cattle so long as it is done."

"The question which always arises is: How will the calves which have been rendered immune stand up against the strain of calf-bearing and lactation? That is the real test."

"The other principal method of immunization is by what is called the B. G. G. vaccine, or Calmette-Guerin treatment. The French think so highly of it that they give an attenuated culture to thousands of babies who have been exposed to any form of infection."

In regard to Spahlinger's treatment, the Aga Khan, head of the Moslem community of the world and the most successful racehorse owner in Britain, says:

"This vaccine solves the problem of insuring that the milk and meat supply of the world is made free from tuberculosis."

A Bird's-Eye View Of Luke's Gospel

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Thou shalt go before the face of the Lord to prepare his ways. —Luke 1:76.

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

INASMUCH as our Sunday school lessons for the next three months constitute a study of the Gospel according to Luke, from the standpoint of his picture of Jesus as the world's Saviour, it may be well for us to start out by getting a "bird's-eye view" of the entire Gospel of Luke. Accordingly, the following is quoted from the author's book, "The Gist of the Bible, Book by Book", with the permission of the publishers, Richard R. Smith, Inc., New York.

Luke, "the beloved physician," was a Greek scholar who wrote the story of Jesus to his Greek friend Theophilus, as he had learned it in his companionship with St. Paul, the great apostle and missionary to the gentiles.

The great "hobby" of the Greeks was perfect manhood, and Luke, finding the perfection of manhood in Jesus, wrote to the Greeks to commend Him to them as the Ideal Man, the Son of God, the perfecter and Saviour of all men.

Luke finds the key-note of all the sayings of Jesus in the words he records in chapter 19, verse 10. "For the Son of Man is come to seek and to save that which was lost."

Saviour of All
Luke sees Jesus as the Saviour of all, of gentiles and Samaritans as well as of Jews, a Saviour whose special interest seems to be in the poor and the outcasts, the women and children, and all the prodigal sons of the race. His is the universal gospel.

Consequently, Luke's genealogy of Jesus is traced back to Adam to show that He belongs to all humanity, whereas, Matthew was satisfied to stop his genealogy of Jesus with Abraham to show that Jesus belongs to the Jewish race. Luke tells the story of the birth of Jesus from the standpoint of Mary the mother, as would be most natural for a physician to do. Matthew tells the same story from the standpoint of Joseph. Luke has room for the story of the birth of John the Baptist. He alone records the presentation of the Christ child in the temple in infancy, and likewise His visit to the temple as a youth of twelve years. These and many similar incidents peculiar to Luke have brought him the distinction of writing the gospel of womanhood and of childhood in a day when these were little esteemed.

Champions Cause of Poor
Similarly, Luke champions the cause of the poor and the outcasts. He alone records the parables of the Rich Man and Lazarus, the Rich Fool, the Pharisee and Publican, the Good Samaritan and the Prodigal Son. These incidents which escaped the pens of the other evangelists, as well as those that Luke records in common with the others, show the trend and purpose of Luke's story. He paints Jesus Christ as the Ideal Man who belongs to all humanity as its Brother and Saviour, and who would have all men belong to God. He is the Perfect Man who has come to perfect even the outcast and the publican.

Had Luke written nothing more than that most beautiful of all short stories, the Prodigal Son, he would have deserved the everlasting gratitude of the race for his gospel of hope.

The early church caught this spirit and purpose of Luke's gospel and made the face of a man the symbol to represent Luke in the art of the church as the lion and the ox represented Matthew and Mark and the eagle represented John.

In his first two chapters Luke has recorded the first five Christian hymns, and the rest of his story of the man Christ Jesus has put a song into the hearts of innumerable thousands of the poor, the outcasts, the publicans and prodigals, who otherwise would have been able to find in their hearts or hopes nothing to inspire a song.

The International Uniform Lesson for January 4 is Luke 1:3-17:80, the subject being, "The Birth of John the Baptist" and the Golden Text Luke 1:76, "Thou shalt go before the face of the Lord to prepare His ways."

Eight-Story Structure Is Moved By 18 Men

Telephone Building, With 600 Employees, Changed To New Location, Block Away

Eighteen men recently moved an eight-story Indianapolis building weighing 22,000,000 pounds, a distance of fifty feet in one direction, turned it around and rolled it a block in another direction to make room for a new structure.

The building housed the general offices of a telephone company and 600 girl operators and other employees continued their work of answering calls as the building was moved. In the structure itself elevators ran and gas steam heat, water, electric power and sewage facilities were maintained through flexible connections.

The average rate of movement was about fifteen inches an hour, but the occupants were unable to detect any motion.

Turmoil Of Lingle's Murder Still Seething, As Chicago Wars On Racketeering Gangs

By WILLIAM J. KOSTKA
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

CHICAGO, Ill., Jan. 2.—Like a bombshell the killing of Alfred "Jake" Lingle, newspaper reporter, by gangsters on the afternoon of June 9 threw Chicago into a turmoil that is still seething.

Within a few days police were rounding up hundreds of hoodlums, the record total for one day numbering approximately 650. A short time later Police Commissioner William Russell, a friend of Lingle's and the chief of detectives resigned and then as an anti-climax Jack Zuta, believed to be the man who arranged for the murder of the reporter, was killed on August 1 by a gang while he was playing a slot machine piano in a Delafield, Wis. hotel.

The killing of Zuta proved doubly sensational for only a month before his death he was the target of gangster bullets in a running battle on State street while being escorted through the loop to the territory of his gang. Zuta had just left police headquarters where he had been questioned about the Lingle shooting and fearing gang reprisal for what he had revealed asked Lieut. George Barker to drive him to his own territory. He escaped from the lieutenant's car unharmed and was not found until his death in Wisconsin.

Despite the appointment of special investigators, the indignation of the entire city and the arrest of suspects in all parts of the country, little has been accomplished that would lead toward the arrest of the actual slayer of Lingle or Zuta. The principal suspect, Frankie Foster, who was arrested in Los Angeles as the Lingle murderer, went free on bond December 2 after Pat Roche, chief investigator for the state's attorney, admitted that he had been convinced that "Foster had nothing to do with the Lingle killing."

Foster went free despite the fact that Policeman Anthony Ruthy, who was directing traffic at Michigan avenue, picked Foster as the man who dashed from the subway in which Lingle was killed.

Within a few hours after his death Lingle's connection with gangland was revealed. It became known that the reporter was connected with racketeering operations especially with the gambling element and that he had aroused the anger of the rival faction, who it was said, planned his murder after he arranged with police to raid their houses.

The death of the reporter spurred the city in its war on crime but little was actually accomplished through the groundwork of a good house cleaning was laid. The Chicago Chamber of Commerce through the organization of a secret service department headed by the so-called "secret six" has been diligently waging war on the gangsters with the result that many hoodlums have found it convenient to reside in other cities.

An ancient vagrancy law was dug up through which, it was hoped, gangsters, against whom the police had no evidence, could be sent to prison on the charge that they were not gainfully employed. Judge John H. Lyle, recognized as the hammer leader of the courts against gangland, issued warrants for 28 leading gangsters on the vagrancy charges. Little was done, however, for the prosecutors found themselves unable to get convictions because of technical obstacles, the lack of evidence or possibly the leniency of juries and the decision of the state supreme court that the gangsters could not be held on excessive bail on the vagrancy charges. As a result practically all of the 28 gangsters named in the warrants are still free.

Chicago's war on crime gained most headway during the year of 1930 through the action of the federal government in bringing the gangsters to trial on charges of evading income tax payments.

Through these cases three henchmen of Al Capone, lord of all gangdom, face heavy fines and long prison terms. They are Ralph Capone, brother of Al, Jack Guzik, reputed "business manager" for the Capone organization, and Frank Nitti, known as the chief of the Capone murder squad. "Scarface" Capone himself faces renewed charges of murder for two old slayings, one the assassination of "Big Jim" Cosmo in 1920. Earlier in the year when cries were heard from all sections for the arrest of the gang lord, "Scarface" himself suddenly appeared in the city and going from one municipal building to another found that no one wanted him on any charge and he returned to his palatial residence in Florida where he has successfully escaped all attempts to force him out of the state.

The public indignation aroused by the Lingle murder has done little toward ending the popular underworld custom of taking rivals "for a ride". Almost every week a victim was found and in none of the cases was the murder traced.

Builds Herd At Governor's Expense

Cowboy Alters Brands At Cost Of Chief Executive

(International News Service)

DENVER, Col., Jan. 2.—The ancient art of "working" brands has not entirely disappeared from the cattle ranges of Colorado.

The revival of the practice by which small herds of cattle were made to increase at the expense of the neighbors' herds was brought to light recently when Gov. William H. Adams learned that a cowboy on the extensive Adams ranch near Alamosa, Colo., had altered the brands on several head of the governor's cattle.

The cowboy was arrested and confessed to officials that his ambition to become owner of a herd of cattle himself had led him to take up the practice once followed by rustlers on the western ranges. Governor Adams brands his cattle with an "O" and a "reverse L". The cowboy registered a brand "OB". Occasionally careless in putting the governor's brand on calves, the cowboy put "O reverse B" on several head. This was done by simply adding two half circles to the governor's brand.

Elmer Ray, a special inspector for the state livestock commission, discovered the "mistake" the cowboy had made in his branding and investigated. Aided by William Carson, foreman on Adams' ranch, and a grandson of Kit Carson, famous pioneer scout, Ray found that the cowboy had been building up his small herd at the expense of the governor's.

Police here were called upon by the Pottstown, Pa., police to make an investigation relative to an automobile, which was believed to have been used by four men, who held up a bank in that district. A license number of the car used was secured and the number turned into the authorities there, was one found listed to people here. The police were asked to look up the car and people here.

The local police authorities on investigating last night found that there was an evident mistake in securing the number in Pottstown, as the people here had not used their machine for several days and have not been out of town since before the holdup occurred. This information was given the Pottstown authorities. Pottstown is located close to Philadelphia.

All War Veterans Entitled To Flag For Use At Burial

Veterans Bureau Furnishes American Flag To Drape
Over Casket

At the request of the U. S. Veterans Bureau, the National Service Bureau of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, seeks to acquaint veterans of all wars, including contract nurses who served during the Spanish-American War, of their right to have their caskets draped with an American flag, regardless of the cause of their death, the flag subsequently going to the next of kin.

In a statement received by the Harry L. McBride Post from Edwin S. Bettelheim, Jr., Director of the National Service Bureau of the V. F. W., it is pointed out that application for such flags should be made by the next of kin, a representative of the McBride Post, or other service organization, or the person responsible for the burial, to the nearest U. S. Veterans Hospital, Regional Office, National Soldiers Home, or other field station of the Veterans Administration.

Application should be made on Form 531 or informally for the time being, giving the veteran's full name, rank and organization, date of enlistment, discharge and any number that may have been assigned to him for a claim in the Veterans Bureau or for a pension.

Any of the above agencies or the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross, will be glad to furnish necessary application forms and render all possible assistance. Photostatic or certified copies of the discharge certificate of the veteran should also be furnished to the Veterans Bureau agency as evidence of honorable discharge.

If the flag cannot be furnished by the government in time for the funeral, a flag may be secured at a cost not to exceed $7, this sum to be repaid upon presentation of duly certified evidence of purchase.

The National Service Bureau of the V. F. W. also explains that the same form, No. 531 can be used in filing claims for allowances on burial expenses, not to exceed $100. All claims must be supported by an itemized statement from the undertaker and must be further supported by certified copy of the death certificate, or a duly certified copy of the coroner's report at death.

Love Feast Marks Midnight Service Of First Pentecosts

At the New Year's eve service held by the First Pentecostal church in the Y. W. C. A. Wednesday evening an election of officers for the Sunday school featured the early evening hours.

William Bender was chosen superintendent; Michael Krempeles, assistant; May Barth treasurer; John Caldwell, secretary; Clara Bender, pianist; Grace Barth, assistant and Roy Kirkwood and Earl Clarks, librarians.

The business session was followed by a praise service, at which time testimonies were given by various members of the church and this part of the program closed with a "love feast" which is the breaking of bread with one another, signifying the love of one's fellow men, spiritualizing Christ, as the bread of life.

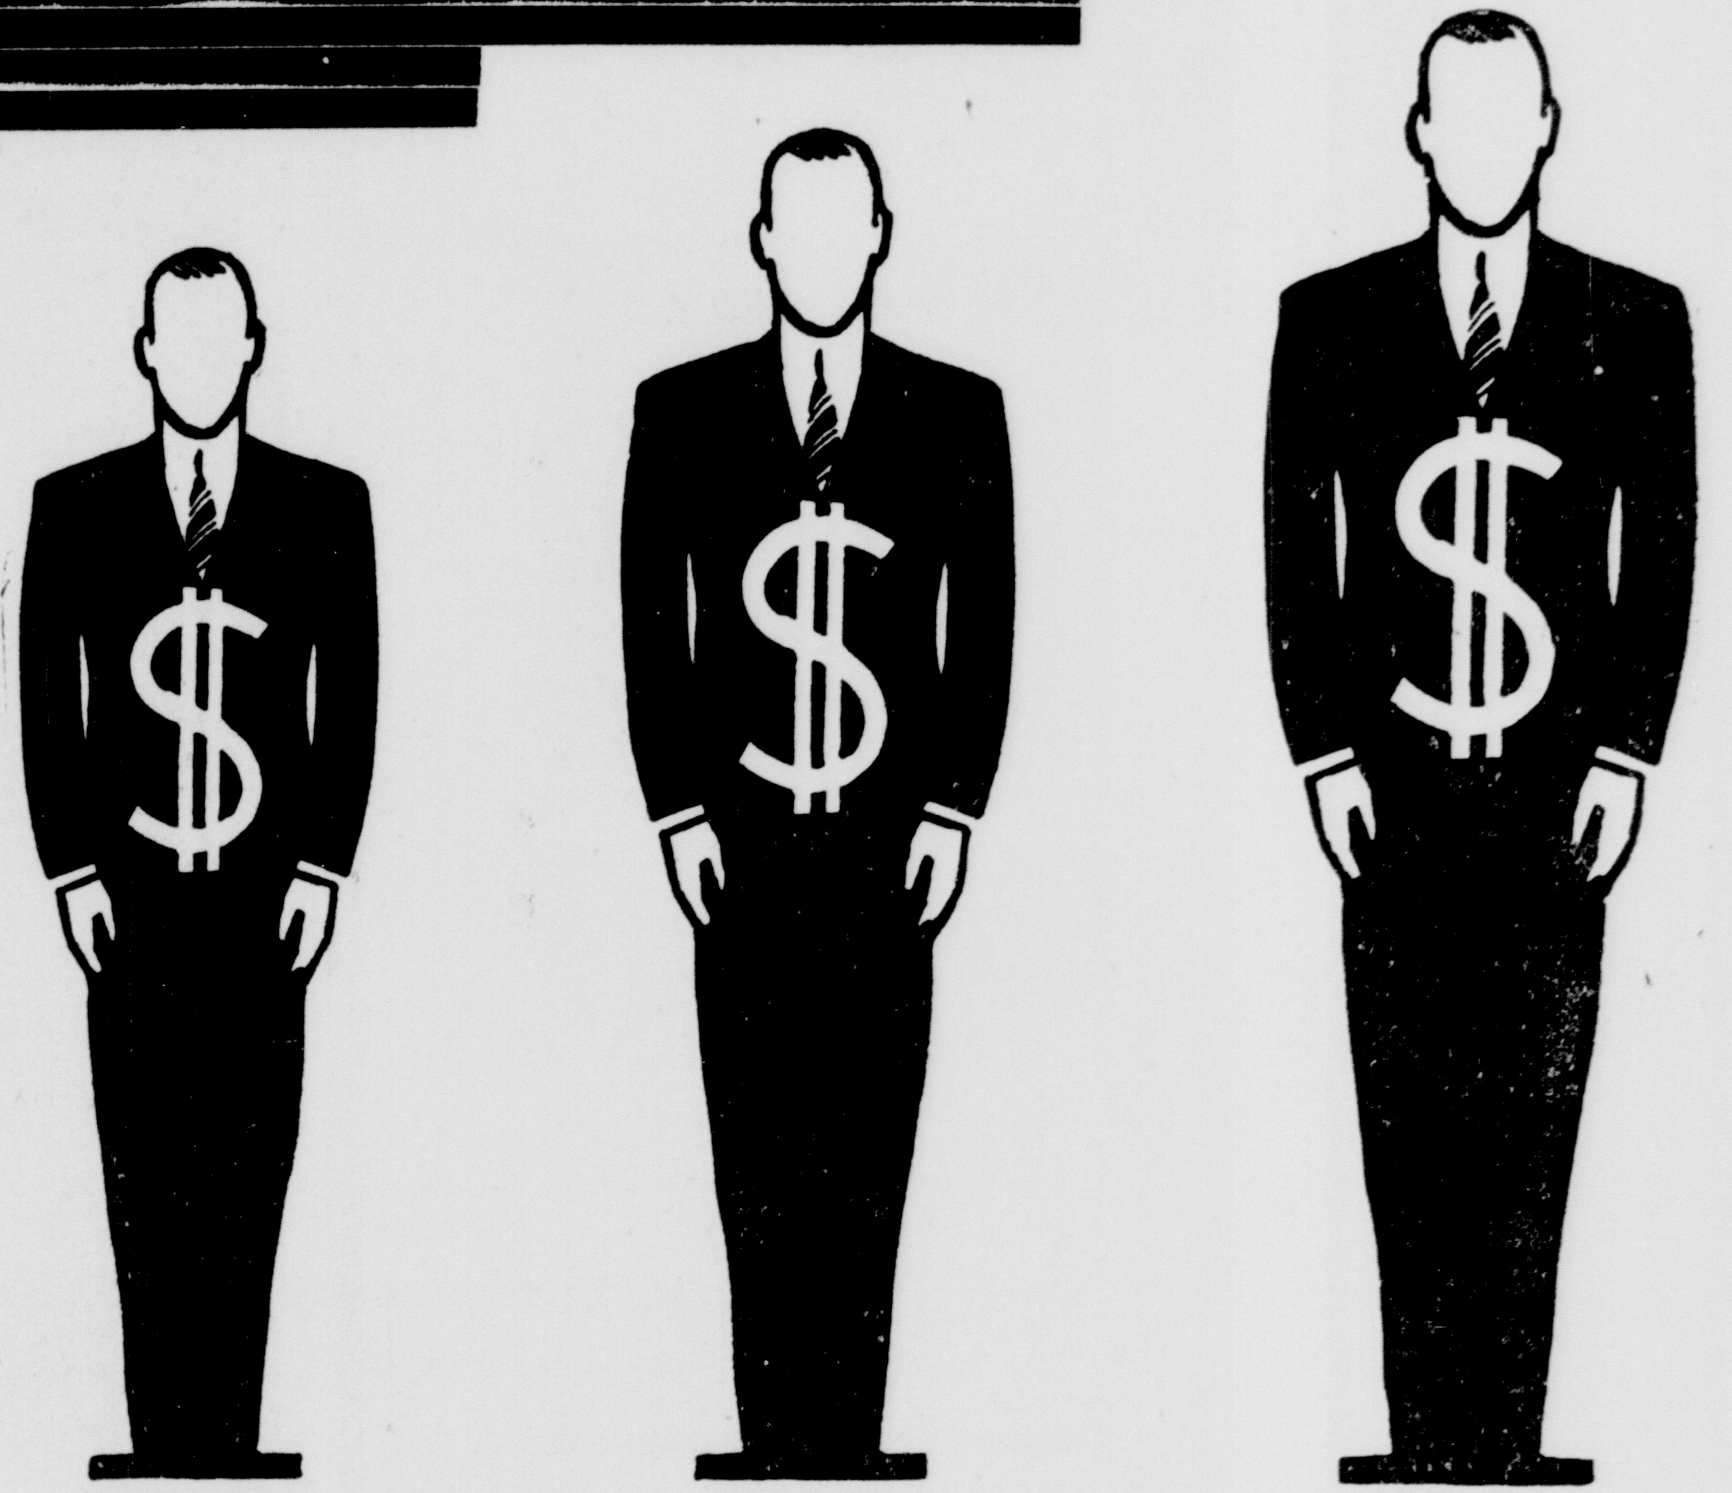

Rev. Kellner, pastor of the church, addressed a brief sermon to the congregation on "Loving One Another" and after New Year had made its appearance the congregation dispersed, each wishing the other a happy and prosperous year.

Cold Air Vapors Fool Observers

(International News Service)
REDDING, Calif., Jan. 2.—Lassen peak, only active volcano in the United States, has been giving the appearance of sending up a column of smoke daily for the past several weeks.

Investigation made by Charles T. Dozier, mining engineer and geologist, and a former member of the faculty of the University of California, disclosed that cold air was the cause of it.

He explained that cold air drafts come up from different sides of the mountain and on meeting at the top of the peak, form moisture or a cloud, which continues to form as the wind carries it away. This action appears to be smoke or steam rising from the crater, he said.

Governor Roosevelt Starts Second Term

Governor Roosevelt Inaugurated For Second Term In New York

Fails To Touch On National Politics—Shies At Presidential Boom

By RAYMOND L. BORST
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 2.—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt today started plodding along the political road which may or may not lead him to the Democratic presidential nomination two years hence.

In the inaugural address which opened his second term, Governor Roosevelt made no direct reference to any national political issues but he was hailed on all sides by Democratic leaders who came to the capitol to witness his induction into office as one of their party's outstanding presidential possibilities.

Roosevelt said he does not intend to lift his hand to win the presidential nomination and that he will devote all of his energies during the next two years to the job of governor. At the same time, Democratic state leaders are making no secret of the fact that they have set plans afoot which they hope will result in presidential boom for Roosevelt in other states.

Smith in Picture
If there is to be any real boom for his nomination for the presidency the governor is understood to feel it would be better to have it started by some state or states other than New York.

There have been some rumblings at the capitol, however, that former governor Al Smith has an idea he might take another fling at the presidency in 1932, but a majority of Democratic state leaders are taking these reports with a grain of salt. Some of Al's close friends are insisting however that it might be just as well to hold back on some of the booms for Roosevelt until Smith lets it be known definitely whether or not he is out of the running.

More Are Jailed In 1930 Than In The Previous Year

Sheriff Johnston had no reason to complain of poor business so far as jail prisoners were concerned during the past year. Records of the office show that during the year 1930 there were 1193 persons confined in the county jail at different times. This includes cases sent up from offices of justices of the peace, alderman and the mayor. In 1929, the number of cases was 1045 or 148 cases less than in 1930. Many of the prisoners confined during the year were sent to the Allegheny county workhouse, the Western Penitentiary and to Reform schools. At present there are less than fifty prisoners in jail.

Officials Fail To Identify Prisoners

Incident At The County Jail Shows That It Is Not Always An Easy Matter

Difficulties of identifying persons who have been guilty of crimes by picking them out from a bunch of prisoners were aptly illustrated at the Lawrence county jail yesterday when two officials came over from Leetonia, O., to see if they could identify two men who had been concerned in a holdup at Leetonia.

Visit of the officials was made after it had been learned that a man alleged to have been concerned in a New Wilmington feed store robbery was in jail here.

Sheriff Johnston lined up fourteen men and asked the officials to pick out two whom they believed might have been concerned in the Leetonia holdup.

One of the officials, after looking the men over carefully, acknowledged that he could not identify any of them as the men wanted.

The other official took a little more time. Finally he said "I am not positive, but I believe the man at this end of the line and that one at the other end are the men we are after."

One of the two designated was Glenn Dague convicted of the Brady Paul murder, and the other was Deputy Sheriff Russell McBride. The Sheriff had told McBride to stand up along with the prisoners to make the line longer.

From this it will be seen how easy it is to be mistaken.

Drive Opens On Unlicensed Dogs

Warn Owners Who Put Off Getting 1931 Tags; Enforcement Starts

After January 15, it will be unlawful to own, harbor or keep dogs six months old or over not bearing the 1931 license tag, the Pennsylvania department of agriculture, bureau of animal industry, informed local authorities today.

It is just as much a violation of the law, the notice read, to keep dogs minus their licenses as it is to drive a motor car with 1930 plates. The dog law, passed in 1921, will be far more rigidly enforced this year.

Dog owners may apply at once to County Treasurer Ada M. Smiley for their tags.

Enforcement officials in the Lawrence county district said today that being attention is being paid to roving dogs at present since a herd of 30 sheep was slaughtered on a local farm last week.

A warning also went out to farmers, advising them to keep their canines confined at night. This is a regulation of the state's dog law which officials intend to strictly enforce.

Two Children Burn To Death In Wood Estate

Parents Helpless As Two Children Are Trapped By Flames

JERSEY SHORE, Pa., Jan. 2.—Their only means of entry blocked by a fallen window, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Boews stood helplessly today while raging flames burned their two small children to death.

Marjorie 8, was found dead at the foot of the stairs on the first floor, her body burned almost beyond recognition. John, a one year old infant, was smothered to death as he lay in a tiny crib.

Parents of the two victims escaped from the blazing dwelling by climbing through a window over a porch roof when fire prevented them from using the stairway. As Boews clambered to safety through the window the heavy sash slammed shut and he was unable to enter the house again.

The dwelling was totally destroyed by the fire origin of which is unknown.

Cause was attributed to an overheated hot water boiler.

Kidnapers Give Up Rich Child

Adolphus Busch Orthwein, 13, Returned To Family Unharmed By Kidnapers

MYSTERY ATTENDS FINDING OF CHILD

(International News Service)
ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 2.—Parents and relatives of Adolphus Busch Orthwein, 13-year-old grandson of the late Adolphus Busch, multi-millionaire brewer, today continued to keep secret the details of the boy's abduction New Year's eve.

The boy was returned unharmed to his parents late yesterday 20 hours after he was kidnapped in Huntleigh village, St. Louis county, while in the company of Roy Towell, family chauffeur.

Acting as spokesman for the family Attorney Henry Troll declared that any ransom had been requested or paid. Troll declared that the Busch family would stand by the agreement that any person furnishing information leading to the return of the boy would be rewarded generously "and that no questions would be asked."

Troll refused to explain further his statement that the transaction to get the child back had been made possible "through a connection I made 30 years ago."

The child was found by his father and Troll on a road in the country, standing alone, apparently waiting for his rescuers to come to a designated spot. He was fatigued and begrimed, but had not been mistreated in any way.

Closing Books Of Seal Sale

Tuberculosis Society Asks All Citizens To Send In Checks For Seals

There are still some envelopes of Christmas seals which were sent out at Thanksgiving time by the Lawrence County Tuberculosis society hidden away in desks and table drawers—forgotten.

One of these envelopes may be in your home or office. Christmas with all its spirit of goodwill and helpfulness to others, is gone. But tuberculosis—relentless destroyer of human life—works on.

An appeal is broadcast to all citizens of New Castle and Lawrence county who have not already sent in their money for the little health seals. Although the official sale is over, the local officers of the tuberculosis society are hoping that they may close the books with a 100 per cent record. It can be done if you send in your donation to the Lawrence County Tuberculosis society, East street, immediately.

Harvard Needle Records Quake

(International News Service)
CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 2.—A sharp earthquake was recorded on the seismograph at the Harvard seismograph station today.

It was followed by a much smaller shock.

The combined records lasted three hours.

The first quake was recorded at 4:56 a. m. This was followed by the smaller shock, whose maximum was reached at 6:30 a. m.

The distance of the first shock was estimated at 2,600 miles from Cambridge. Owing to the confusion of the two records the distance of the second shock was not determined.

The 2,600 miles is within the active seismographic area in California and the active zones off the coast of Mexico, the seismographic station reported.

Ebensburg Man Heads Schoolmen

M. S. Bentz, Cambria Superintendent, Chosen Pennsylvania Group President

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Jan. 2.—M. S. Bentz of Ebensburg, school superintendent of Cambria county, was elected president of the Pennsylvania State Educational association for the ensuing year at the closing sessions in this city.

W. Lee Gilmore of Oakmont, the retiring president, becomes the first vice president of the association. A. M. Weaver, superintendent of the Williamsport schools, was elected second vice president.

Preferential voting, on the Haire system, has been adopted by the convention and although the polls were closed at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, the results of the election were not announced until the evening.

The house of delegates of the association defeated all attempts to increase their dues, but adopted a resolution authorizing voluntary contribution from each member.

Pittsburgh was chosen as next year's convention city. The resolution authorizes the collection of a voluntary contribution of 50 cents per member, in addition to the dues of one dollar per member.

Carmen Ross of Doylestown introduced the resolution that called upon all county superintendents and supervising principals to collect from the 60,000 teachers of the state association a special assessment of 50 cents each to be used in financing the welfare programme of the association.

It is expected that this fund will provide the needed amount to assist in the relief of more than 500 former teachers, now superannuated and needing assistance.

For the first time in the history of the Pennsylvania association a maximum allowance for national convention expenses has been set. A resolution fixing the per delegate allowance for the July convention in Los Angeles at $150 was introduced by Dr. H. W. Dodd, superintendent of the Allentown schools, and chairman of the trustee board of the permanent fund. W. Lee Gilmore, state president and presiding officer, ruled that the motion be carried.

This resolution is expected to save the state association approximately $1400 and will require that each delegate pay about $50 of his own resources for the western trip.

The report of the retirement fund board showed invested funds of $78,150,000 and a membership of 74,545 educators.

H. H. Baisch of Harrisburg told the delegates that the funds has not suffered in the least in its investments.

Committee reports were received this morning from the following officers: Charles S. Davis of Steelton, the report of the legislation committee; H. H. Baird, the report of the state school employees retirement board; Miss Jessie Gray of Philadelphia, the report of the commission on professional ethics; R. T. Shaw of Philadelphia, the report of the Atlantic City meeting of the National Council of Teachers Retirement Systems, and James B. Astronomers Try New "Yardstick"

Tiny Planet Eros, "Nearing" Earth, To Afford Second Celestial Tape Line

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—A new "yardstick" to measure the solar system is envisioned in the tiny planet eros, which will come within 16,000,000 miles of the earth this month.

Astronomical cameras in widely separated observatories are now being trained on this moving point of light in a world co-operative program sponsored by the International Astronomical Union.

Eros approaches the earth at certain times nearer than any other measurable celestial body except the moon.

An eccentric orbit brings it close to the earth only at long intervals, the last comparatively near approach occurring in 1900-01 when the distance was about 30,000,000 miles. The nearest approach of Venus to the earth is 26,000,000 miles, with Mars coming no closer than about 35,500,000 miles.

Irregular In Form, Is Belief
Eros will swing well within the orbit of Mars, but will stay outside the earth's orbit. Judged by its brightness, it has a diameter of fifteen miles, astronomers say. Because of a queer habit of disappearing at certain stages of its progress, Eros is believed irregular in form.

On Jan. 29, at the time of its expected approach, this baby planet, about the seventh magnitude, almost will be seen with unaided eye. Stars of the sixth magnitude are just visible to the naked eye.

Eros is important to astronomers since it comes relatively close to the earth, and is so small it can be considered a mathematical point with no mass, breadth or thickness to upset calculations.

The naval observatory said Eros affords the best opportunity to determine what astronomers do not know—the exact distance of any object in the solar system.

The present yardstick for measuring planetary distances is the space between the earth and the sun. Astronomers can determine precisely that an object in the heavens is so many times as far away as the sun, or a fraction as far.

This can, after a fashion, be reduced to terms of miles but with a probable high degree of error, because it is not known exactly how far distant is the sun.

The error in measuring its distance, astronomers say, is probably as much as 100,000 miles.

Eros' distance will be determined by trigonometric calculations, using the interval between two stations as the base of a triangle which has the star at its apex.

State Sends Final Estimate To City

Council convened formally in city hall today and voted $25,472.77 to Woods and Golder, which represents final payment for the repaving of Grant street, Croton and Butler avenue. American Industry Will Start Forward March, Is Radio Magnate's Opinion

David Sarnoff, Radio Corporation President Has Hope For Future

Prosperity Faces New Turning Point In 1931—Passing Through Depression Valley

By W. S. COUSINS
Financial Editor, International News Service.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Under the stimulus of new developments from the laboratory, new services to the public and new industries created by initiative and necessity, American industry will inaugurate a new forward march in March of 1931, in the opinion of David Sarnoff, president of the Radio Corporation of America.

"We have been through the valley of depression," said Mr. Sarnoff, "and prosperity faces a new turning point in 1931. This country," he said, "has emerged from each industrial crisis one step ahead and always with higher standards of living, higher wages and a new industrial prosperity."

Mother Necessity at Work.

"The fact of greatest promise to renewed prosperity," said Mr. Sarnoff, "is that for the past 18 months old Mother Necessity, with sleeves rolled up, has been busy in the leading laboratories of the nation. We have been going through an industrial phase where production and consumption, the forces of supply and demand, have constantly sought to outstrip each other; we are coming to see that true prosperity lies in the balancing of these forces. But that does not mean the world can or will restrict its needs. On the contrary, not by slowing up industry, but by speeding up research, shall we solve our problems."

"Necessity is energizing our inventive and industrial genius. Today research laboratories of the nation are hot with development, and the tracks are being laid for new industries and new services."

"Sufficient progress has not yet been made towards practical television to set a date or a time for its introduction upon a nation-wide service basis. Nevertheless, progress is continuous. Every contribution to the art now being made in a laboratory is another brick in a new industrial structure, another indication of a new industrial development, a further approach to creation of a new industry which will need to employ more men, more money and more material. In the meantime, there are many services involving sound rather than sight in the field of electrical entertainment which are yet to be developed."

Better Pictures.
"In the field of modern screen entertainment, the key to greater progress is better pictures. Recreation and entertainment are vital forces in the everyday life of millions of people. The public at any time will beat a new path to the door of the best play or best book or best film that meet these essential requirements. There again the strongest urge for progress has come from the fact that during a period of depression the public shops for entertainment as it shops for any other commodity it needs."

"The only real danger, I believe, to natural and widespread economic recovery in the United States is the continuance of archaic political and legislative conceptions regarding large scale industry."

"There are many great industries in the country today which are handicapped by overcrowding, overproduction and over exploitation. There are many unsound factors which create nothing, contribute nothing and add nothing to the essential structure of the nation."

"We need a new path, a new path to the door of the best play or best book or best film that meet these essential requirements. There again the strongest urge for progress has come from the fact that during a period of depression the public shops for entertainment as it shops for any other commodity it needs."

Rumor Panama Scene Of Revolt

Confusion Reigns In Little Country—President Is Jailed

By J. A. RYAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

COLON, P. C. Z., Jan. 2.—Revolutionary movement against the government of President Arosemena was launched in Panama early today.

It was rumored the president had been taken captive by the revolutionaries and lodged in jail.

Intense confusion reigned following outbreak of the revolt. The report that Arosemena had been imprisoned indicated the insurrectionists had succeeded in deposing the government.

The movement was headed by General Quintana, who led a large group of young revolutionaries to the presidential palace at midnight. A number of casualties were reported to have taken place when police attempted to stem the outbreak. Rodolfo Chiari, a well known political leader, was among those reported killed.

President Don Florencio Horno Arosemena was inaugurated on October 1, 1928, for a term of four years. While there has been considerable political opposition to his rule, this is the first concerted revolutionary movement which has taken place. In the past, the Panama police force has been adequate to protect the government's interests, as Panama is not equipped with an army.

Last Summer's Drouth Good For Duck Hunters

(International News Service)
DENVER, Jan. 2.—The unprecedented drouth of the past summer, which brought misfortune to farmers in Canada and the central states, brought good fortune to Colorado duck hunters.

Dec. 31, found Colorado lakes and streams covered with more ducks than had been seen in years. R. G. Parvin, state game commissioner, explained the presence of these ducks by saying that the drouth had diverted them from their usual course south.

It being necessary for ducks to find water each night the ducks made their southward flight through the Rock Mountain region, where lakes and streams were still filled with water.

Parvin said that the drouth had caused thousands of ducks to die because of lack of water at their nesting grounds in Canada. The ducks, he said, were hatched at the usual nesting places; but died from lack of water before they were able to fly.

Westfield Grange Watch Meeting

Over 200 Members Of The Westfield Grange And Families Usher In New Year

One of the most pleasant events of New Year's eve was that of the gathering of the members of the Westfield Grange and their families to see 1930 go out and greet 1931.

A fish fry began the evening and fabulous numbers of fish disappeared along with many other delicious viands which had been prepared by Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Morie Leslie and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph White, and served by a number of the grange members.

The Grange Hall had been decorated in pines, laurel, holly and mistletoe and formed a beautiful setting for the festive gathering as over 200 sat down to dinner.

Following dinner there was a period of informality, during which time games of various kinds were interspersed with music and merry making until 11:30 when Rev. Ross M. Haverfield took charge of the program and ushered in the New Year with a twenty minute period of praise and prayer.

Shortly after midnight the happy event was over and each departed wishing the others all the joys and prosperity of a New Year.

FINDS NITROGEN HELPS GROW-TH OF SOD ORCHARD

Effects of sulphate of ammonia and nitrate of soda in a sod orchard are reported in bulletin 249 of the Pennsylvania State College agricultural experiment station by R. D. Anthony, who conducted the experiment.

Results in this experiment indicate that with mature York trees it is desirable to secure an annual branch growth of at least five inches in order to maintain profitable yields. In most commercial sod orchards this growth cannot be obtained without using from 5 to 10 pounds of nitrate of soda to the tree or the equivalent sulphate of ammonia or other equally available nitrogenous fertilizers. When this sod is blue grass, more nitrogen should be used than with timothy, Anthony states.

In the spring, soon after the tips of the branch buds begin to show grey and before the blossom buds show pink, the nitrogen should be applied. This allows a period of from 1 to 2 weeks for the fertilization.

When the sod orchard is in such a low state of fertility that additional nitrogen is still needed, and especially when light applications are to be made to such an orchard, nitrate of soda will give somewhat quicker results than sulphate of ammonia, the experiment reveals. When the orchard is in a state of moderate fertility, the differences in results from nitrate of soda and sulphate of ammonia will be so small that either can be used. If the use of the sulphate is continued, ground limestone should be applied to balance the resulting acidity.

From the results obtained, it is concluded that the fruit grower should produce the maximum amount of organic matter by means of the sod, maintain the sod as long as necessary tree growth can be secured by the use of economical amounts of fertilizer nitrogen, then plow or disc the orchard and later reestablish the sod.

PULLETS MOLT BECAUSE OF ADVERSE CONDITIONS
There is an unusually large number of pullets molting in Lawrence County at this time.

Several causes may be to blame for this condition. Many flocks were hatched early and started to lay in late summer and early fall. They were in production for several months and are molting at this time. This is a common experience with poultrymen when they get a heavy production early. Another cause was the sudden change in temperature a few days before Thanksgiving. The laying birds were not accustomed to this weather and were thrown into a molt by this climatic change.

FRIGHT CAUSES MOLT
Other flocks have molted before coming into heavy production. A change in housing conditions when the birds were placed in the laying house may have caused this. Fright may have been another cause. The presents of round worms, tape worms, or chronic cocciidiosis are always possibilities of causing these molts.

Many poultrymen feel that the dry summer prevented their pullets from receiving the amount of green feed that they did other years and for that reason they did not develop as usual. These pullets started to lay with limited amount of resistance at maturity and were not able to remain in heavy production.

FEED FLESHING MASH
Numerous poultrymen report very favorable results from feeding a fleshing mash to their molting pullets. This fleshing mash helps to get the pullets through their molt and even may help to prevent the laying pullets from molting. The following mixture fed in a crumbly form at the rate of three pounds (before moistening) to 100 birds daily may aid in maintaining body weight: 10 pounds of ground yellow corn, 10 pounds of ground rolled oats, and 10 pounds of condensed milk. If it is desired that dried milk be used in the place of condensed, it will be practical and economical to use one-third as much.

Opening the windows on sunny days will give the hens every opportunity to get direct sunlight. In view of the fact that little direct sunlight is available to most flocks during the winter months, it is advisable to add cod liver oil to the ration at the rate of one pint to 100 pounds of mash. Use about one pint to 700 birds daily if the oil is mixed with grain or moistened mash.

DAIRY COWS DO BEST ON BALANCED RATION

When the dairy cow eats her feed it serves a two-fold purpose. Protein is supplied for building muscle, bone, and hair and furnishing curd material for the milk. Carbohydrates and fat supply heat to keep the body warm, fat to be stored as such in the body and as butterfat in the milk, and energy to maintain the life processes of the body. Protein, carbohydrates and fat all are needed in the ration, and carbohydrates and fat cannot take the place of protein.

In 100 pounds of milk there are about 3.3 pounds of protein, 5 pounds of carbohydrates, and 4 pounds of fat. All three must be present to form milk, and it is necessary to supply them in about the right proportions so that there may be no loss. When this is done the ration is properly balanced.

Feeding an unbalanced ration forces the cows to eat a considerable portion of feed which they cannot use in the manufacture of milk. This practice is both wasteful and extravagant. Cows fed a balanced ration will produce more milk for the feed consumed and, in addition, they will be more healthy. They will also live longer and breed more regularly.

Johnny Kraft, Former News Man Describes Flight Over New York

By JOHNNY KRAFT

NEW YORK CITY, N. Y., Jan. 2.—Visitors to New York City who are air-minded and who would care for an unusual sightseeing trip over this great metropolitan city can have their wishes fulfilled on their next trip here. Thousands of men, women and children were taken on short flights over Long Island and Manhattan this past summer, and with favorable weather conditions existing these novel trips will be continued throughout the winter months.

The writer recently took advantage of a splendid offer made by officials of a Long Island airport which enabled patrons wishing to fly to take a twenty-five mile trip over New York City in a tri-motored Ford plane. Thirteen passengers were taken on the short cruise over Manhattan and needless to say the trip was enjoyed by all.

An experienced transport pilot sat at the controls of the huge plane. The plane was taxied to one end of the field and after a run of several hundred yards rose gracefully into the air. The pilot flew directly over Queens and Manhattan, passing over Hell Gate bridge and the East river, thence to Fifth avenue, downward to lower Manhattan and over the Queensboro bridge to Queens and the airport.

Visibility was perfect and the passengers in the plane could see the surrounding territory for miles and miles. Westchester county, the Bronx and the new 117th Street bridge spanning the Hudson river was easily discernible and afforded a striking scene from the air. Many large steamers were anchored at their piers along the river front, while the territory in New Jersey or miles around added to the colorfulness of the trip. From an altitude of 2000 feet, the huge Chrysler building appeared as a tiny candlestick and the new Empire State building, 83 stories in height and the largest building in the world, long with the new Waldorf Astoria hotel presented a striking picture. Lower Manhattan with the new Irving Trust building, Woolworth building, Bank of Manhattan company, the Old Trinity church, Statue of Liberty, Ellis Island, Governor's Island, the Brooklyn and Manhattan bridges provided a real treat for the passengers on the trip. Incoming liners accompanied by tugs, and smaller craft of all descriptions moved hither and thither in the lower bay, while the broad expanse of the Atlantic Ocean could readily be seen in the distance.

Returning to the airport the plane passed over the Queensboro bridge, Welfare Island and over Queens where the highways, railroads, parks, apartment houses and pedestrians gave one the impression of looking down upon a miniature city. The parks from the air resembled Tom Thumb Golf courses with the lakes forming water hazards.

The pilot made a perfect landing at the field and successfully discharged all passengers. The trip provided no air thrills—there was no banking or looping, air pockets were unknown on the flight over the city, and the take-off and landing were accomplished with greater ease and precision than one experiences when traveling by rail. Strange as it may seem the roar of the three motors had little or no effect upon the passengers who conversed freely upon their flight over New York City.

In addition to regular flying those who wish to make trips over the city in dirigibles of the Graf Zeppelin type can do so. Single double and tri-motored planes are used daily to accommodate the thousands of passengers wishing to make these short flights. Visitors to local airports always have a treat in store for them for almost any week-end one may see parachute jumping, stunt flying and air maneuvers by the famous Pitcairn auto-gyro planes.

The writer had occasion to fly from Vienna to Budapest in Europe back in 1925, a distance of 225 miles but the recent trip over New York City in the tri-motored plane excelled by far the trip abroad. This may be attributed to the fact that the trip abroad was in a single motored plane and, of course, a spread of five years between aeroplane rides does make a difference.

Room For Monkeys Needed At Columbia

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Columbia University's 20 monkeys, residents at the tall Medical Center building here, have created a delicate and growing problem for the university officials.

Locked in a double doored monkey proof room, with plenty of light, air, heat and running water, the Simians need more space. Monkeys there are now for the little primates. But "the greatest need," declares the report of Dean Darach which tells of the work of Drs. Earle T. Engle and Philip E. Smith who are studying pituitary secretions "consists of space for housing monkeys."

The Simians are the subjects of much experiment, the report shows, from diagnosis of brain tumor by eye symptoms, to a study of "the mode of death of the human heart."

Sun Rays And Oil Are Remedies For Rickets

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
"Rickets" was named by the people of Dorset and Somerset counties in England, taking the name from the old English word "wrikken," meaning to bend or twist.

It affects the bones more than any other part of the body, twisting and bending them. The twisting and bending is, of course, produced by the movements of the body. The reason the bones can be twisted in rickets is that they become soft, from lack of deposit of lime salts. Adding lime or calcium salts alone to the diet, however, does not prevent or cure the condition. The American diet at all ages contains from 50 to 100 per cent more calcium than the body needs. But for growing bones some other chemical must be present in the body to aid in the deposit of the calcium.

We know now quite well what this chemical is—it is called Vitamin D, and is found in fats, particularly fish fats and oils, and particularly in the livers of certain fish, notably the livers of cod. Hence, for practical purposes we may say that cod liver oil contains the substance to prevent and stop rickets.

Of all the vitamins none is so poorly distributed in the ordinary foods as Vitamin D. Fish oils and fish livers are the lone exception. How, then, do infants who do not eat fish liver oil keep from having rickets? Before we knew of the value of cod liver oil in preventing rickets, people who lived far from the sea and ate no fish did not necessarily bring up rickety children. How did the nursing mothers of such people provide Vitamin D for their babies? For we know certainly that Vitamin D is the one essential preventive.

The answer is a curious one and was uncovered when it was found that exposure to sunlight or to ultra-violet light would prevent rickets equally as well as the use of cod liver oil. Then it was found, by Drs. Steenback and Hess, in 1924, that certain oils when exposed to sunlight would take on anti-ricket properties which they did not previously possess. The action of the sunlight produces a chemical change in the oil, forming Vitamin D. There is a natural fat in the body, cholesterol, which will produce Vitamin D when exposed to sunlight or ultra-violet rays. The actual substance in cholesterol responsible for the vitamin is a fat named ergosterol. Hence sunlight produces Vitamin D in the body from its own oils.

Cod liver oil, sunlight in the open air, and artificial ultra-violet lights, are all preventatives of rickets. The artificial ultra-violet rays are less valuable than direct sunlight.

Sunlight in the open air—ordinary window glass filters out the elements that make sunlight valuable. Glass that allows the ultra-violet rays through is only a fair substitute for real sunlight. A child out of doors for recess, according to Clark, will get more ultra-violet radiation than would be secured all-day behind a window of ultra-violet transmitting glass.

Mother Earth Shivers, When It Gets Cold

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Mysterious earth tremors reported on seismographs in Massachusetts and Colorado and New York and elsewhere recently just indicated that the earth was shivering at the sudden drop in temperature, said Father Lynch at Fordham University.

It was reported from several points that the earth was trembling barely perceptibly at its bed-rock foundations. The recordings on the seismograph instruments did not indicate an earthquake. Each swing of the rhythmically moving earth's crust took about six seconds. It indicated some mysterious, tremendous force at work.

"All seismographs record such tremors, known as micro-seisms, every time there is a sudden drop in temperature," says Father Lynch. "It is true they are mysterious. We know they occur. We see them recorded. We know what causes them. But we do not know why." The earth's crust ripples like this every time there is a sudden drop to cold weather, said Father Lynch. This has happened ever since Fordham has had a seismograph.

No one has yet found a hint of the solution, but at the California Institute of Technology experts are at present experimenting to learn the cause of the mysterious tremors. Even though the force exerted to move the seismograph needle is vast, each movement of the earth crust is not more than two ten thousandths of an inch in either direction, and there is no danger, the physicist said. Such a motion recently was continued for hours and into days, with no threat of an earthquake. There is not even the slightest effect on buildings.

Morrow's Senatorial Debut, Diffident And Unassuming, Seen As Much To His Liking

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—For one whose entry into the political life of the country was accompanied by a fierce spotlight and such a beating of the publicity tom-toms, Dwight W. Morrow has made his Senatorial debut without causing the slightest ripple on the surface of things in Washington. It is as he wished it.

It almost seems as though Morrow slipped into his place in the Senate without anyone noticing he was there. Assigned to the last seat in the last row on the Republican side of the chamber, the perpetually smiling and diminutive banker-diplomat remains half-hidden from a large portion of the finger-pointers in the galleries.

All of which is immensely pleasing to the former Ambassador. He is essentially a shy and diffident man, who would rather do his talking around the familiar intimacy of the council table than out from before the footlights.

The maiden speech of a new Senator is always awaited with a great deal of interest by the Senate itself, by the press gallery, and by the politicians generally. Morrow hasn't made his, and he has no intention of doing so for the present. He hasn't even raised his voice in the chamber yet, except to answer "Here" to roll-calls or to vote "aye" or "nay" to questions.

The New Jersey Senator, whom many believe is destined to play an important role in national politics before many years, has been just about the best listener that ever broke into the Chamber. He is almost invariably to be found in his inconspicuous seat when the Senate is in session, in contrast to the older regulars who make a bee-line for the cloak-rooms and lounge when some boring speech is being made.

Not so Morrow. He listens intently, his head half-inclined and usually with a half-smile on his face. He is learning parliamentary procedure, the Senate ropes, and, probably is more important, Senatorial characters.

It was all rather puzzling to him when he first came to the Senate, for he had no previous legislative service of any kind. He knew by sight and acquaintance probably less than a half dozen of his colleagues when he took his seat. But in the friendly intimacy of the cloak rooms and the committee rooms he is making great progress and learning much.

Considerable ado was made of the fact that he was not assigned to the Banking and Currency Committee in which there was a vacancy when he made his debut. As a banker of world-wide renown, it was naturally thought that he would get such an assignment but instead it went to another freshman Senator James J. Davis, former secretary of Labor. Morrow was assigned to the Committee on Education and Labor, a place for which Davis was considered peculiarly suited because of his experience in the Cabinet.

Comparatively few knew that Morrow himself requested he be not assigned to the Banking committee. It was characteristic of him. A considerable amount of banking legislation is in prospect during the next session of Congress. As a former member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co. Senator Morrow did not want to invite the charge that "Morgan influence" was being injected into the committee, even though he long since severed all connection with Morgan and Wall Street generally.

Incidentally, Morrow's first vote in the Senate on a major issue found him in the company of the so-called progressives. It was on Parker bill for regulation of interstate bus traffic a bill which the railroad interests did not exactly like. The bill was up for passage, and a motion was made to re-commit it to the committee, which meant its death so far as the present session is concerned. Morrow voted "nay" along with many of the insurgents of both parties. It was a losing vote for the bill was killed.

A personable man is the new Senator from New Jersey. He has made many friends in the Senate in the short time he has been there and oddly enough, many of them are the very insurgents who, before he came, had always pictured him as the symbol of Wall Street and high finance. Politics does sometimes make strange bed-fellows.

Water Shortage In Johnstown Is Reported Acute

Most Severe Water Shortage Since 1892 For Citizens Of Johnstown

(International News Service)
JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Jan. 2.—Suffering from the most severe water shortage since 1892, citizens here Thursday faced the possibility of being without water unless supply of water after 20 days unless the present supply is augmented by rain or thaw.

Strict economy measures were laid down by water company officials in attempts to make the present supply last as long as possible.

Farmers of Somerset, Cambria, Indiana and Bedford counties are all afflicted by the water shortage, it was reported.

Convict's Sweethearts Seldom Faithful

(International News Service)
SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Calif., Jan. 2.—Not many sweethearts of men sent to prison remain faithful to the end.

They come regularly for a time, veteran prison guards here say: "It's the old proverb, 'Men will go to prison for beautiful women.'"

Each day a score or more attractive young women stroll to the office of the captain of the guard. They mingle with tearful, saddened mothers and worried fathers.

"I have come to see number— I am a friend" one of them will say to the guard.

Sixty minutes of happy chatting with her man. Then, goodbye, and not infrequently forever.

"How long do these pretty girls remain faithful?" was asked of a hardened penitentiary attaché who watches the drama in reception rooms daily.

Little Girl Falls On Stove, Burned

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Jan. 2.—Mary Louise, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sarzey, Jordan St., South Heights, was painfully burned at her home yesterday when she fell on a hot coal stove.

The child was reaching behind the range to procure some of her clothing, which had been hung on a hook to warm, when she lost her balance and fell. She was burned about the back and arms and required medical attention. Although confined to her bed, she will recover it is said.

Needy Are Given Haircuts In Lancaster

LANCASTER, Pa., Jan. 2.—A public hair-cutting party was held here recently.

Those who were shorn were 450 men, women and children who were treated by 40 barbers of the Master Barber Association, and International Union of Journeymen Barbers. This required nearly four hours to provide all the needy with free haircuts. It was decided to hold a similar event later.

One out of every ten tires bought for replacement in 1930 was an ALLSTATE—consistently priced about a fourth below competing brands. This unprecedented volume enables Sears to effect additional economies in manufacture and distribution for 1931. These savings—increased by the present lower cost of raw rubber and cotton—are now shared with American motorists. The new reduced prices are far and away the lowest on record for tires of comparable quality.

Buy a Pair of Tires and Save Even More

As all experienced motorists know, it is better to put on a pair of new tires instead of just one; front tires should be alike for ease in steering; rear tires should be alike for greatest traction, and to minimize skidding on slippery roads when brakes are jammed on quickly. Now that Sears offers a special reduction on a pair of ALLSTATE Tires, it is more than ever worth your while to buy two at a time for your automobile.

WASHINGTON OPPOSES NEW CASTLE TONIGHT

Fifth Game Of Season Will Be Enacted Tonight At Senior High Gym At 8:00

Washington High Will Present Fast Combination As Local Opponents

Having yet to taste defeat this season on the basketball court, the New Castle High passers will attempt to keep their record unblemished tonight when Washington High is met at 8:00 o'clock at Senior high gymnasium. The two quintets are reported as being in good early season condition for the tussle.

Washington high, according to reports, has a fast team and will give the locals plenty of competition. Coach Hank Day thinks his boys will prove tough antagonists for the Red and Black cagers. Having set back four opponents in succession, New Castle with its dazzling attack, will make a daring attempt to add Washington to the victory list starting play in the W. P. I. A. L. league race on next Tuesday night with Zenlenople as opponents.

So far this season the defense which the local high school quintet has presented the opposing teams has worked out to perfection. Youngstown South secured 20 points while the other three teams tallied under 20 points.

The only obstacle that will prevent the Senior High school from having one of the best basketball teams in the history of the school is the mid-year graduation or ineligibility of three-fifths of the present team this month. Francis Wainio for the past two seasons has proven a tower of strength on the floor. Luther Rowe, and Regis McAuley will be lost on the varsity team. Rowe and Wainio are lost through graduation while McAuley becomes ineligible on February 8 when he will be 20 years of age.

The loss of three passers may mean the loss of a W. P. I. A. L. trophy. The reserve list shows promise of developing however.

McAuley and Nick Uram who will probably be found at guards will try to continue their good work. Andy Lasky, another promising youth will again fill the center berth with Luther Rowe who has made a creditable showing and Wainio holding down the forward posts.

It is not known what kind of a lineup Coach Hank Day will offer to the local hardwood artists. One of the biggest crowds of the season is expected to watch these two rivals battle it out on the court tonight.

The contest will start at 8:00 o'clock.

Notre Dame Five Also Famous

(International News Service)
SOUTH BEND, Ind., Jan. 2.—George Keegan's Notre Dame basketball team is almost as much of a rambling outfit as the famous Irish football squad.

The 1931 Irish net schedule includes teams to West Point, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Syracuse, Milwaukee and Iowa City.

While the Notre Dame basketball record is not as flashy as its gridiron history Coach Keegan's rallying Irish hardwood quintets have won 121 games and lost 46 for an average of .725 percent in the last eight seasons.

The best showing of Irish cagers was made here in 1925 and 1928 where the South Bend basketballers won 56 victories out of 61 starts.

The Notre Dame basketball teams of 1925-26 and 1926-27 lost only to Franklin College, Indiana, in those two seasons and the Irish beat the Baptist quintets in other games played those seasons.

Coach Keegan's basketball record at Notre Dame follows:

1922-23—Won 10, lost 12.
1923-24—Won 15, lost 8.
1924-25—Won 11, lost 10.
1925-26—Won 19, lost 1.
1926-27—Won 19, lost 1.
1927-28—Won 18, lost 3.
1928-29—Won 15, lost 5.
1929-30—Won 14, lost 6.

Titans Point To Grover Game; To Be Played Jan. 6

Shift Date In Contest Between Old Rivals

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 2.—Coach "Pops" Harrison is driving the Westminster college team hard in preparation for the opening game of the regular season against Bob Thorn's Grove City passers at Grove City. This game, originally scheduled for January 2, has been shifted to January 6.

Coach Thorn had most of his players remain at Grove City during the entire Christmas holiday period, while Coach Harrison allowed the men to go home December 19 and return December 29. Harry "Bud" Brownlee, Titan center, visited in Grove City during the holidays and reports a number of the Grovers had daily workouts.

With this advantage, and with the advantage of experience, since most of the Westminster players are freshmen and sophomores, Coach Thorn is apt to serve up a rather distasteful baptism for "Pops" Harrison in district coaching ranks.

The Titans have all centers who are able to tip the ball, but there is no one on the Westminster squad this year to take the tips at center as O'Donovan did during the last two seasons. As a result, the Titans have had to play twice as hard as usual in pre-season tilts in order to get possession of the ball, and the team has been on the defense much more than it has been for five seasons. What offensive power the team has this season seems to be in Captain Rice at guard and in Hamas, forward who is out with an injured knee.

Nine Boxing Titles Have Changed Hands In One Year's Time

Year 1930 Saw More Titles Change Hands Than In Any Previous Year

"What Does Year 1931 Have In Store For Boxing World?" Many Inquire.

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—What does the year of 1931 hold in store for boxing?

The dawn of the new year finds titles in the various divisions in the usual muddle; dissatisfaction over the refusal of some champions to defend their laurels against worthy opponents, and widespread belief that other titleholders are not the best fighters in their class.

This situation exists in spite of the fact that 1930 witnessed the crowning of more new champions than in any previous year. No less than nine titleholders passed into the class of ex-champions in the past year.

Max Schmeling became heavyweight champion by winning from Jack Sharkey on a foul, yet today the German is in the bad grace of the same commission which awarded him the title. Most boxing critics rate Stribling and Sharkey ahead of the Teuton, and Primo Carnera has many supporters.

Rosenbloom Ascends
The past year saw the installation of Maxie Rosenbloom as lightweight champion as the result of his victory over Jimmy Slatery. Slatery probably will get a return bout within the next two months.

Mickey Walker must still be regarded as middleweight ruler, but is campaigning against the heavyweights and soon will be forced by public opinion to take on one of such leading contenders as Dave Shide, Len Harvey, Gorilla Jones or Harry Smith. Walker's last title defense was against Ace Hudkins on October 29, 1929.

Jackie Fields, who won the welterweight crown from Joe Dundee on a foul, lost it to Young Jack Thompson, who later was defeated by Tommy Freeman. While Freeman had not been generally regarded as of championship caliber, he has been handicapped by illness in the past and should not be placed on the list of "cheese champions" until given further opportunity of proving his class. Jimmy McLarin, Young Corbett, Fields and Thompson all are worthy contenders for Freeman's title.

The sixth title change took place when Jack Kid Berg, the brilliant junior welterweight, beat Mushy Callahan.

The lightweight title changed hands twice in 1930 and likely will have a new owner before the present year is out, in the opinion of many observers, who doubt that the veteran Tony Canzoneri can defend his laurels successfully against Berg or the rejuvenated Billy Petrolle.

Battalino Wins
Bat Battalino finally was lured into the ring with Kid Chocolate and made a gallant stand, although the verdict in his favor aroused considerable criticism. Bat has been going to the fistic wars for many a long year and would have his hands full with Fidel La Barba, the outstanding contender for the featherweight title.

Al Brown has little opposition among the bantamweights. Midget Wolgast won the New York flyweight elimination tournament and it was hoped that his bout with Frankie Genaro, the N. B. A. titleholder, last week would clear up the muddle in this division. Genaro appeared to have the edge, but the official verdict was a draw, leaving the world's title still in dispute.

NEAR-SIGHTED ROBBERS!
WARREN, O., Jan. 2.—Robbers who stole a safe from the Wollam Insurance Co. office at Cortland, near here, early Thursday, after hauling it nine miles, broke it open and took $40 from a cash drawer, but overlooked $400 in bills in the top compartment of the safe. The $400 was found intact when the strongbox was recovered.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Alabama defeated Washington State 24-0 in the last football game of the winter at Pasadena. Brilliant aerial and running attacks baffled the Cougars.

Johnny Datto defeated Jackie Rodgers in Pittsburgh last night. Datto had Rodgers on the verge of a knockout in the second and eighth rounds.

Another fighter known here scored a victory. Harold Scarney having won from Harry Williams in the semi-final at Pittsburgh.

France won from Ireland 3-0 in an international rugby game before 45,000 people at Paris.

Mickey Dorias, junior lightweight recently acquired by Jimmy Dunn, defeated Sammy Harris at Canton yesterday.

Man Mountain Of Italy Reported Ready To Fight Stribling At Miami

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Young Stribling, Georgia heavyweight, will meet Primo Carnera, giant Italian, in a heavyweight bout at Miami the final week in February, according to a report given wide circulation here today. Announcement of the match will be made from Miami next Tuesday, after a conference between "Pat" Stribling, manager of the Georgian, and Frank J. Bruen, former manager of Madison Square Garden, who is to be the promoter, it was said here.

Those close to the situation said that the Stribling-Carnera bout had practically been closed and merely lacked formal announcement.

Plan Nine Carnivals Of Winter Sports

(International News Service)
CONCORD, N. H., Jan. 2.—With carnivals at Dartmouth and at the University of New Hampshire, the highlights, nine winter carnivals have already been scheduled for the 1931 season. As in other years, the carnivals center around the middle of February.

Another highlight was the winter sports events held in connection with the New England sled dog races at Laconia.

The list as compiled follows: Dartmouth college—Feb. 5, 6, 7. Laconia—Feb. 12, 13, 14. Tilton—Feb. 13, 14. Wolfeboro—Feb. 13, 14. Lebanon—Feb. 14. Littleton—Feb. 12, 13. Plymouth—Feb. 19. Woodsville—Feb. 22.

Hamas, Star Forward, Lost To Titans For Grover Game

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 2.—John "Jinx" Hamas, diminutive forward on the Westminster college basketball team, joins Danny Con-sidine, another Titan forward, on the injured list and will not be available for the opening collegiate game of the season against Grove City at Grove City, January 6.

Hamas injured his knee in practice this week, was not able to play against the North Side Community

CARIEDO WILL ARRIVE TONIGHT

Notre Dame Quarterback To Be Honor Guest At Dinner Saturday

Frank Cariedo, quarterback of Notre Dame, who is to be the honor guest at a testimonial dinner at 6 o'clock Saturday evening at The Castleton, will arrive here at 10 o'clock tonight, according to Emil Strizzi and Vitus Conti. The grid notable will register at The Castle-ton.

The Phi club is composed mostly of college boys and according to Strizzi and Conti practically all of the 200 reservations have been taken. Delegations of the Notre Dame star's friends from surrounding cities will be among those present to pay him homage. Other grid notable also will be present.

Following the dinner dancing will be enjoyed.

Andersons Defeat Warren Steelers

The Anderson tenpin team of the Seventh Ward defeated the Warren Steel tenpinners, 2,669 to 2,656 in a match game played over the Solomon alleys in the Seventh Ward. Alabama Defeats Washington State

SOUTHWEST TEAM BEATS MID-WEST

By COPELAND C. BURG
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—Ascendancy of Southern football was further accentuated today as the merry men of Alabama turned their faces homeward to the land of Simmon seed and cotton with the scalp of Washington state all bundled up in a 24 to 0 lashing. The quality of football in the South is such that if it improves further this season Dixie will hold a predominating position in the great college sport.

Bama's easy crushing of the cougars at Pasadena yesterday was generally as unexpected as the tidal wave under which Notre Dame buried Southern California. The Southerners were the favorites but they were not looked on as able to administer such a blasting defeat.

Some folks will contend that Alabama was the equal or superior of Knute Rockne's dream machine but the records of the Southern outfit would hardly justify that claim. Notre Dame played better teams than Alabama and Coach Wallace Wade's aggregation must be content with giving up amateur tennis.

Washington state slips back to the position of just another good team. Another exhibition of the superior brand of Southern football climaxed the season as the Southwest All-Stars defeated a team of mid-west players at Dallas yesterday 10 to 0. Led by Buddy Hackman of the University of Tennessee the team coached by Morely Jennings at Baylor outplayed all the way one aggregation of Coach Bob Zuppke of Illinois.

New Castle was represented in that Southwest All-Stars and Mid-West game at Dallas, Texas, with Jack Christman, former New Castle High and Purdue star lineman, playing at a guard job for the Mid-West, coached by Bob Zuppke. Christman graduates at Purdue this June.

Hillsville Defeats Marcella Quintet

In the preliminary game the Y. W. C. A. handed the Hillsville girls team its first defeat in two seasons by a 26-23 count. The half found the Hillsville five leading by a 16-8 score. For Hillsville the playing of McCombs, F. Grist and Serjak featured while Fred Marcella with three baskets was the best for the losers.

The summary:— Hillsville 32 Marcellas 17

Serjak G. Richards
C. Grist G. Ciccone

Bill Tilden Yearns For Job In Movies

Famous Ranking Tennis Star, Now Retired From Game, Will Make Films

Has Always Had Desire To Act In Pictures—May Enter Open Tennis Tourney

By DAVIS P. SENTNER
International News Service Dramatic Editor
(Copyright, 1931, by International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—There is nothing I'd rather do than act in the moving pictures.

Big Bill Tilden, who dominated the empire of tennis for a decade, has gone to Hollywood.

Always wanted to be an actor. Has been an actor—mostly amateur theatricals. Rather be in the movies than play tennis. Hopes they'll sign him up for moving pictures after he has finished making his series of talking films on tennis subjects.

William T. Tilden of Philadelphia, and court number one wherever there has been a tennis epic in years gone by, Thursday told International News Service how he feels about retiring from amateur tennis.

No Sentimental Regret
"Have I a bit of a sentimental regret at giving up amateur tennis?" Big Bill stood in the middle of his room and swung a tennis racket—perhaps a reminiscence. "No, I haven't."

"I am getting older. (He is 37.) I have had a long time at tennis and think I've given everything to it and gotten everything from it. I could. Now I can play for pure pleasure."

He said he had a date later in the day to play with George Lott, the Chicago tennis flash, and chuckled: "And there won't be any gallery to bother us."

Was he planning after fulfilling his contract with the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Corporation to turn seriously to professional tennis?

"I wouldn't say yes or no," he replied. "I'm thinking of Hollywood just now and hope I may become part of the industry out there."

He added, however, that under no circumstances would he ever become a professional teacher or coach of tennis.

May Play Again
If the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association ever ruled that amateur and professional tennis players might meet in open tournaments, Tilden said he might play in such a tournament.

But back to acting. Tilden has been interested in the theater and movies all his life. He has had three parts in three silent moving pictures. They were "The Highbirds," "The Music Master" and a bit in "Gallagher."

"After I am finished making my tennis series of films I am hoping some moving picture company will make me an offer for a part in the 'rat'."

"I would never do for a role of romantic lover in the movies. I realize I was made for comedy features (as a matter of fact Tilden is considered good looking) and I would like to play comedy roles. I think I would make good, too. I like Hollywood a lot and would like to remain there for good."

Big Bill has definite ideas on the talks.

AFTER GAMES.
I. W. W. Juniors basketball team would like to book games with any fast quintet in the city. Games are especially wanted with such teams as: Carnegie, Mahoningtown Juniors, Young Yankees and Alibi Juniors. For games call 1977 and ask for Burke.

Boston Braves Are Adding New Material

Manager Bill McKechnie Hopes To Have Boston
In First Division

Berger Only Regular Sure Of Berth—Have Many Fine
Looking Recruits

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—A colorful aggregation of hard-hitting newcomers will be seen in the line-up of the Boston Braves during the coming season.

Bill McKechnie, builder of pennant winners, has assembled a wealth of youthful talent at the Hub. Six of the club's recent acquisitions, not counting pitchers, will be seen in the lineup for at least a part of the season, according to McKechnie's present plans. If this comes to pass, fans around the National League circuit will see practically a new Boston team.

Berger Is Sure.
McKechnie informed the writer recently that outside of his pitching staff, only one man on the club was sure of his job for next season. It takes no great power of deduction to guess that the man in question is Wes Berger, the home run king of the Coddish belt.

Berger will be shifted from left to center field to make room for Wes Schulmerich, another coast slugger who is reputed to hit as hard as Berger. Lance Richbourg, the fleet right fielder, may be replaced by Red Worthington, the recruit from Rochester who burned up the International League last season. If Worthington lives up to advance notice McKechnie will have a trio of dangerous, long distance hitters on his picket line.

Wilson Utility Man.
Another Rochester rookie, infielder Charley Wilson, will be No. 1 utility boy, as we say in Hong Kong. This versatile South Carolina youth can play either shortstop or second base and is a switch hitter. He makes a flock of errors because he tries for every ball hit within half a block of his position. In the International League they call him another Charley Gelbert.

Maguire seems to be a fixture at second base, so Wilson probably will be used to relieve the venerable Maranville at shortstop when the Rabbit's dogs begin to tire.

Worthington and Wilson cost the club $60,000, so it is only natural that McKechnie figures they will make the grade. Worthington batted .370 last season and Wilson .320.

Earl Sheedy, who has had more ups and downs than the wolf of Wall Street, is slated to get first crack at the first base assignment. Sheedy used to play with the White Sox and "rates" but was rather slow on the hoof, due to a bad leg, and drifted out of the big time when his hitting fell off. But even Uncle Wilbert Robinson could have beaten out most of the hits that Sheedy collected last season when he led the Coast League in hitting.

Boal Will Catch.
Another newcomer is Al Boal, who will help Spohrer with the catching. Boal formerly caught for Baltimore, the St. Louis Cardinals and the Pirates. He almost developed brain fever trying to master Branch Rickey's intricate signals at St. Louis, but all he will have to do at the Hub is hit the ball and no questions asked.

Battling Chatham for the third base assignment will be Walter Dreesen, a sandlot star. He is not to be confused with Chuck Dreesen, the Roly-Poly third baseman who used to collect splinters on the Cincinnati bench. Dreesen is a taxi driver during the winter, so you might call him a fare sort of ball player.

The Braves finished sixth last season. Although he thinks he will have a better club this year, McKechnie solemnly told the writer he was not counting on finishing in the first division. He pointed out that all the National League contenders have been strengthened since the close of the 1930 campaign.

Saints Ready To Battle Titans On Floor Saturday

St. Mary's Five Has Tough
Assignment For Saturday Night At Local Court

GAME STARTS
AT 9 O'CLOCK

New Castle basketball fans will get a glimpse of the 1930-31 Westminster Titan quintet in action here Saturday night when they come to battle St. Mary's Five at the St. Mary's auditorium. The game will start at 9 o'clock.

Coach "Pops" Harrison, late of the University of Iowa bringing with him the system of basketball as played in the Big Ten Conference, will be making his first appearance in New Castle with a Westminster floor team. Harrison has a fine squad this year and one that looks well to come right down the stretch in the fight for the Tri-State Conference title.

There are a number of veterans in the Westminster team, and Harrison is blessed with a group of fine looking reserves. The hold-overs from last year are Captain Philip Rice, "Bud" Brownlee, Marsh Fisher, Danny Considine, and "Jinx" Hamas, all having quite a bit of varsity experience. A very good sophomore team could be put on the field with Considine and Newton at the forwards, Williams at center and Blanner and Siljander on the guards. Then there is still a couple of good looking prospects in the freshman class, Douglass and Arthurs.

Two Are Injured
All of the boys with the exception of Danny Considine and "Jinx" Hamas are in shape to play, the former suffered a broken collar bone and the latter has a badly injured knee.

The St. Mary's team recently held the strong Duquesne University team to a 32 to 27 score at the newly opened St. Mary's auditorium floor, and they hope to hold the Westminster crew in check.

The Saints have held a few practice sessions in the past several days, and also played the Manhattans at Ellwood City on Wednesday night, losing by a close score, but with several of the regulars missing.

California To Meet Georgia Team Next Fall

By JAMES E. HULEMAN
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Jan. 2.—The University of Southern California has completed its 1931 gridiron schedule, according to Willis "Bill" Hunter, director of athletics at the University.

The program includes a game with the powerful University of Georgia team in the Coliseum here December 12, 1931. The Georgia eleven made a spectacular showing during the 1930 season and was expected to be a tough customer for the Trojans.

Arrangements for the Trojan-Georgia game were tentatively made here recently when H. J. Stegeman, athletic director of the Southern institution, met with Director Hunter of S. C. Both men, incidentally, are members of national football rules committee. Hunter representing the Pacific Coast and Stegeman representing the southeastern states. Approval of the university authorities of both Southern California and Georgia for the game was announced by Hunter.

Nine hard games and only one "breather", that one coming between the Stanford game and the trip to South Bend to play Notre Dame, comprise the ten-game schedule now completed by Director Hunter. Eight of the ten games are to be played at the local coliseum, the Trojans' home field which in 1931 will have a capacity of more than 100,000.

The Southern California-Georgia game is expected to prove a colorful windup to the Trojans' 1931 season. Coach H. J. Mehre, a product of Notre Dame, has had a flashy eleven at the Athens institution for several seasons.

During the 1930 season the Georgians showed their class by defeating such teams as Yale, North Carolina, New York U. and Georgia Tech. While in the 1929 season the Georgia boys with a team of sophomores defeated Yale, 15 to 0. Alabama 12 to 0 and Georgia Tech 12 to 6. In 1931 Mehre will have what is expected to be the most experienced and strongest team in Georgia's history, and as Southern teams always show to their best on the Pacific Coast a great battle is anticipated in the coliseum on December 12.

September 25—St. Mary's at Los Angeles Coliseum.
October 3—Oregon State.
October 10—Washington State.
October 17—Oregon U.
October 24—California at Berkeley.

November 7—Stanford.
November 14—Montana.
November 21—Notre Dame at South Bend.

December 5—Washington U.
December 12—Georgia U.

The free gate which President Butler proposes for college sports would also add to the ranks of unemployed a considerable number of gate crashers.—The Indianapolis Star.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Narrow Price Range
In Market Trading

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—After starting the new year at slightly higher price levels, the main body of industrial stocks and specialties dropped sharply in dull and narrow trading. Lack of real demand for stocks and rather heavy selling, were responsible mainly for the dip in prices.

Auburn Auto started the new year at 107½, but dropped back to 102 in the second hour. Allied Chemical dipped 5½ to 171. U. S. Steel sold off nearly 2 points from its opening price of 139½. Vanadium slumped off 2½ to 51½ and American Can declined from 111 to 108½.

The best record of the forenoon session was made by a few of the Automobile and Specialty shares. General Motors held steadily around 35½. The Utility stocks were strong-armed in the last ten minutes of Wednesday's session by the pools and investment trusts for "window dressing" purposes, slipped back in to their old price levels. American Waterworks lost 5 points at 55, while American Gas, on the curb, opened 8 points lower.

Wall Street and the business community in general is hopeful for an upswing in business and industry this year, but no immediate expansion is looked for. Stiffening of bond and commodity prices, when they come, will be the most reliable guide posts on the road to better business. The call loan rate was 3 per cent, but a return to 2 per cent within a few days would not be surprising. Railroad stocks and Coppers were dull and steady.

Millionaire Ex-Convict Weds

That million and a half dollars which brought Charles T. Davis, former New York manufacturer and penitentiary inmate, the title of the "world's richest convict," will be shared, henceforth, by a Los Angeles girl. She is the former Mrs. Aldene Caris, a divorcee. She and the millionaire were married at Palm Springs in secret ceremony on November 30.

DR. C. C. GREEN
GIVEN HONOR

Named As Delegate To Los Angeles By State Convention

Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of the New Castle Schools has returned from the Pennsylvania State Educational Association with an honor which is the more pleasing because it was entirely unsought. He was elected as one of the 25 delegates who will represent the 60,000 school teachers of the state at the National Educational Association convention in Los Angeles, California, to be held in July.

When Dr. Green left for the convention he had no thought of being elected as a national delegate. Without his knowledge, a group of his friends put his name on the ballot and when the returns were counted, he was high in the list of those chosen.

The convention was a splendid one he declares, but the delegates still remember the wonderful treatment accorded them in New Castle a year ago. Comments were heard frequently over the unusual handling of the P. S. E. A. convention here in 1929 and Dr. Green's election as a delegate to the Los Angeles, Cal., convention may be in the nature of a gesture of appreciation for his generalship in putting the convention over in the way he did.

From Nicaragua

Resolution Asking Withdrawal Will Be Made In Senate On Monday

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—A resolution will be introduced in the senate Monday calling for the withdrawal of American Marines from Nicaragua, Senator King (D) of Utah announced today.

"We should withdraw from Nicaragua, both in a military and a political way," said King, "and leave the Nicaraguans to work out their own destiny."

Councilman Reeves is ill and it is probable council will await his attendance before taking final action as a board of revision.

Cigaretts-Cigars
Reported Stolen

Entrance Gained To Cunningham Avenue Service Station Last Night

J. S. Fraley, who conducts a gasoline service station at 1305 Cunningham avenue, notified the police last night about ten o'clock that his place of business had been entered. Detective John Young and Officer M. J. Young answered the call and found that entrance had been gained by breaking the glass in the front door of the place.

Five cartons of cigarettes and five boxes of cigars were the extent of the loot obtained by the thieves.

Money may be filthy but you never see people washing their hands before they accept a wad of it.—The Grand Rapids Press.

JUDGE

The Decision

The court held against Mr. Blubb. The judges reasoned thus: The contract was vague and indefinite. What is a first class hotel? What is the patronage of a road? It was impossible to determine with accuracy what the contract was. It was therefore impossible to enforce it.

Gymnasium Found
In Ancient Ephesus

Expedition Backed By John D., Jr., Makes Rare Discoveries

VIENNA, Jan. 2.—Under the auspices of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and a union of German scientists, an Austrian expedition of archeologists is now at work in Ephesus.

That historic city in Asia Minor has always proved an attractive place for excavations, and the Austrian scientists have scored another great success.

About the middle of the sixth century Emperor Justinian built a gigantic church with a cupola over the grave of St. John, and in connection with the church the expedition laid bare an atrium of fine arcades with marble pillars and gallery stairs up to the first floor.

The workmen dug to a great depth and magnificently colored mosaic work on the floor was discovered. Apart from sumptuous halls with colonnades, private and public Roman baths, a Greek gymnasium, and the foundations of a large antique temple, a number of valuable sculptures, including an Aphrodite, and a sarcophagus with a relief showing a fight of Amazons, were unearthed.

Perhaps the most remarkable discovery is the remains of a colossal statue of the Emperor Domitian. The lower arm, from the elbow to the first knuckle of the middle finger, is said to measure nearly two yards.

Mexican Police
Women Subdue
With Jui Jitsu

(International News Service)
MEXICO CITY, Jan. 2.—Mexico City's two score police-women are rapidly demonstrating their ability to hold their own in any circumstance.

Take the case of Pedro Arriola Espinosa. A policeman saw Pedro draw a knife to stab Salvo Jolas. Using Jui Jitsu methods she had learned in the police training school, she forced Pedro to drop his knife. Then she held Pedro submissively with a Japanese twist on his thumb and marched him off to jail.

Find Collection
Of Duerer Prints

(International News Service)
VIENNA, Jan. 2.—A very valuable collection of Duerer prints, some of which are so rare that they were unknown to experts, has been discovered by Dr. H. Leporini, custodian of the famous Albertina Museum in Vienna.

The collection was found in an old Australia Castle, while cataloguing its artistic contents. The name "Nicolas Meldemann von Nuernberg," written on the back of some of the prints, seems to refer to the original ownership. These as well as some other notes appear to be in Duerer's own handwriting.

The collection includes a complete set of the proofprints from the 1617 edition of the "Gate of Honour" series made by the great artist for the Emperor Maximilian by Dr. Leporini as one of the most precious Duerer finds ever made.

Gold Line Vs. Bread Line

While hungry New Yorkers continue to line up for bread, this lineup of gold was dumped out of the S. S. El Salvador, arriving from Cuba with $1,650,000 worth of $20 gold coins for the Chase National Bank. Each box contains 50,000 coins, and the entire consignment is being loaded into armored cars preparatory to being escorted through the streets by a police guard.

In order to assure safety to motorists, ashes have been placed on Sheep Hill, it was announced today. This is among the most dangerous hills in the city during this time of the year and it is the belief of officials that the move to place ashes on this hill was a wise one.

DOUBLE TROUBLE!

BY PAUL ROBINSON

Two-Thirds Of World War Vets Borrow On Bonus

Number Will Be Greatly Increased By New Loans Applied For Now

FEW HAVE REPAID AMOUNT BORROWED

Approximately two-thirds of the 3,680,704 World War Veterans possessing Adjusted Service Certificates on June 30, 1930, had made loans on them, Edward S. Bettelheim, Jr., National Service Director of the Veterans of Foreign Wars advises the Harry L. McBride Post, in a recent communication.

Information received by the V. F. W. shows that 2,294,161 veterans have found it necessary to seek loans from the government on their certificates. To these men, the government has already advanced a total of $209,314,185.87 since January 1, 1927. This amount will be greatly increased in number and value by new loans applied for when added loan value is imparted to the certificates with the advent of the new year.

It is significant to note, that the comparatively small sum of $8,473,516.15 has been repaid thus far by the veterans who were forced to seek loans.

This latter factor is being strongly stressed by the national organization of the V. F. W. in their present movement urging congress to adopt necessary legislation for immediate cash payment of these certificates. They point to the figures as sufficient evidence of the ex-service men's need for financial assistance.

Commander-in-Chief, Paul C. Wolman of the Veterans of Foreign Wars points out that payment of these certificates at the present time would eliminate the annual appropriation of $112,000,000 by congress to the adjusted service certificate fund, which must be made each year so that these certificates may be retired when they are due and payable in fourteen more years.

Judge Buffington Married Thursday

Was the Husband Of The Late Mrs. Marguerite Fairfax
Cledenin Buffington

Announcement made from Philadelphia by press wires on Thursday told of the marriage of Judge Joseph Buffington, 75, senior United States circuit judge of the Third district, and Mrs. Mary Fullerton Jones, widow of William S. Jones, in Holy Trinity church, Philadelphia. The wedding occurred on Thursday. Judge Buffington will be remembered here, where he was a frequent visitor in former years and also because of the fact that his second wife was Mrs. Marguerite Fairfax Cledenin, widow of Wallace Cledenin, member of one of the city's most prominent families, whose death occurred some time ago. Judge Buffington has been a member of the federal bench for 38 years and was first appointed to the district court of western Pennsylvania in Pittsburgh at the age of 37. His present wife is the mother of three married daughters.

Aviators Battle Wounded Coyote

BELLE FOURCHE, S. D., Jan. 2.—Details of a battle between two aviators and a wounded coyote in an airplane above a Dakota prairie were told today by Clyde Ice, aerial sportsman.

With a gunner as his companion, Ice was cruising over the prairie when the coyote was sighted and shot from the plane. The aviators landed, tossed the animal into the cockpit and took off.

As the plane attained altitude, the coyote suddenly revived and attacked the gunner. He fought the crazed wolf with his bare hands and was severely bitten. Ice left his controls for a moment and joined in the battle.

The plane began to fall and spin. In the cockpit both men fought the beast. Finally Ice struck the coyote on the head with a wrench and returned to the controls in time to prevent a crash. He also suffered severe lacerations. The aviators took no more chances. The coyote was thrown overboard and they landed to have their wounds dressed.

Says Navy Uniforms Need Modernizing

(International News Service)
SAN DIEGO, Cal., Jan. 2.—That a more modern uniform was needed by men of the United States Navy was expressed by Capt. Charles S. Freeman, commanding officer of the U. S. S. Arizona, in the current issue of "Proceedings of the United States Naval Institute," a semi-official publication.

Freeman stated "that the essential changes to bring the naval uniforms up to date are long overdue."

"The men of our navy deserve better of our country than to be garbed in the obsolete attire that they are now forced to wear," wrote the commander.

The uniform is a part of the old navy and should now be discarded for a more modern attire, the same as nearly all other obsolete material has been done away with for the more modern equipment, he contended.

Mousse gray, sand gray, horizon blue, olive drab, forest green and slate are some of the colors suggested for the proposed new naval uniforms.

Of Interesting Things Around New

Not so hard to get used to at that, this thing of writing it 1931. Just like eating olives, it takes a few tries before you're sure you like it. After that it's okay.

Noticed Graham McNamee had it twisted last night. Announced that Rudy Valee would present some of the songs that were popular in 1931.
Which is just as bad as writing the date as 1930.

Picking out a program last night was like trying to pick out one individual strand of spaghetti from a buckettful. You get all mixed up with the other strands and the other programs. But you probably heard
Benito Mussolini and the Alabama-Washington State football game. If that could be called a game.

Attended a rather unusual dinner party yesterday at noon. The newsboys of the city were guests of the Leslie Hotel, and the kids did themselves noble. No noise, not even in drinking coffee, everybody behaved himself, but their good behavior didn't effect their appetites.

If you never carried newspapers
you can't appreciate what things like that mean. I can still remember the first dramatic production I ever saw, and it was a newsboy's treat following a newsboy's dinner.

Noodles Fagan was in New Castle and every newsboy was invited to attend an oyster dinner with him as host, and then attend the theatre to see that classical dramatic offering of the ages, "From Rags To Riches."

The cast in it was probably rather terrible, but not to the eyes of those of us who were there free. It was an important moment in our lives, and no cast ever got longer or more enthusiastic applause than that one did.

Viewed in the light of present day drama, that old play would be listed as tear jerking "mellodrammer" but there was this about it, it didn't have the odor that some of the present Broadway attractions have, Virtue was rewarded, villainy punished, and truth left reigning at the final curtain.

Those were the days of heart stirring productions, if your heart was easily stirred. "Ten Ton Door," "Dr.
Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," "Bertha the Beautiful Sewing Machine Girl" and "Nellie the Beautiful Cloak Model".
They were the thrillers. "The Prince of Pilsen" was the reigning musical comedy to be succeeded a little later by the "Three Twins."

About the only thing to be said for a lot of those old time actors was that they could act. Sex appeal was not put into the front window, and what passed for risque burlesque then, would be considered much too tame for the simplest kind of musical show now.

The last vestige of the holiday is going down. Outside the workmen are having the long strings of colored lights, the leaves are dropped to the ground, and by noon today the holiday will be all but over.

struction work on the dam, which

Accident Victim Dies Of Injury

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Jan. 2.—
Harry A. Simpson Killen, 50, New Galilee, died in the Providence hospital as a result of injuries received when struck by a truck December 26.

The accident, according to available information, occurred on the Homewood-New Galilee road when Killen was struck by a truck owned by the Andalusia Dairy company. He suffered a deep scalp laceration and was internally injured. His injuries at the time, however, were not believed of a serious nature.

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—The police force of Tammany Town numbers 20,000 men and equipment, including over 600 motor vehicles, as well as patrol boats and aeroplanes.

That's some development when you recall that back in 1854 the "Rattle Watch" as the cops were then called, comprised only six men.
As the old place started to go to the devil it was found necessary to increase this number. The "Rattle Watch" was succeeded by the "Constable Watch," comprising 12 men.
Things kept on getting worse, however, and finally, in 1793, the foundation of the present force was laid with provision for 140 patrolmen. Each of the 140 was equipped with a leather hat and a 33-inch cub, and was paid 87½ cents a night.

An interesting feature about the size of the present force—20,000 men —is that there are a corresponding number of speakeasies in the city.
One speakeasy to each cop.

THE YEAR 1931
About this time each year the prophets, having pried nine or ten feet into the future, saunter forth from their dens and with wise whiskers all over the financial pages of the Metropolitan press.

Roger W. Babson of Babson Park is the first of the tribe to appear.
Wrapping his Queen Elizabeth bed quilt about his legs to shield them from the icy January blasts, he utters the following hollow wail:

"The year 1931 will be one with great discretion, as well as great courage, will be needed. Whether buying stocks, bonds, commodities, real estate or a business, you should go slowly and act wisely."

All of which would indicate that the coming year of 1931 will in no respect differ from the one thousand nine hundred and thirty years that

his own:

I confidently predict that the year of quick recovery—depending altogether on whether it is, or isn't.

PHILOSOPHY
A carpenter, three months without work and with a wife and seven hungry kids, jammed a gun into his flask pocket the other morning and fared forth to level inequalities.

Apologetically he stuck up the driver of a milk wagon, demanding money. When the driver offered him milk instead, he accepted.

Then the driver, one of nature's noblemen, followed the erstwhile "stick-up man" home and notified the police.

ed: "You can't afford to have things given to you."

husbands, they'd cease to worry!"

Tom Mix, with his family on the rocks, and his magnificent home in Beverly Hills closed up, was talking of all that had gone before:
"I didn't need that estate to make me happy," he said. "I didn't need vachts, or $75,000 worth of automobiles. Every time I went into that house my boots skidded from under

Millions Of Holiday Greetings Described As Not Deliverable

By ARCE OLEMAN
First Assistant Postmaster General

Approximately 4,000,000 Christmas and holiday greetings did not reach their destination this year.

This estimate is based upon the past experiences of the Dead Letter office. Seventy-five per cent of this large amount of undeliverable Christmas mail constitutes Christmas cards and similar greetings, and the valuable inclosures in this mail greatly exceed those for the average run of mail for the rest of the year.

Often in sending a Christmas card the sender will also enclose a dollar bill, expensive handkerchief or some other valuable article.

A greater percentage of Christmas mail is undeliverable than is other mail during the year. The principal reasons for this are the fact that there is a disinclination on the part of the sender to place his return address on the envelope or enclose it with the Christmas card.

All other classes of mail increase in the same proportion of undeliverable pieces at Christmas time as does first-class, with the exception of parcel post. There is a strong tendency to have the parcel post packages insured, in which case a return of the article is possible. However, because of the failure of the sender to wrap his packages properly, there is a great increase at Christmas time in the number of articles found loose in the mails.

There are four Dead Letter office centers. They are at New York, Chicago, San Francisco and Washington, D. C. The Washington office receives its first large quota of Christmas dead letters from Philadelphia about the first Tuesday in January. There were about 106,000 letters in this allotment last year.

The normal receipts of dead letters average from 18,000 to 28,000 at the Washington office, depending upon the day of the week. Following the Christmas holidays the figure increases to 60,000 or more and reaches its peak around January 20 and 25, when hundreds of thousands of undeliverable Christmas letters are on hand.

The Dead Letter office, although it increases its force about 50 per cent, is not able to work it way out of the deluge of Christmas letters until about the middle of February.

The kills were classified as 521 deer, 402 elk, 32 goats and 26 bears, according to game warden control stations.

Lamb Lives 18 Days Under Snowdrift
(International News Service)
ROCKY FORD, Colo., Jan. 2.—Buried alive under a snowdrift for 18 days, a lamb belonging to a sheep feeder in the Arkansas valley, is recovering from the effects of his long fast.

Many sheep which were caught in the heavy snowstorm which buried the lamb died of starvation before they could be dug from under the drifts.

Answers to questions on information and fact can be obtained by writing to Central Press Bureau, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O., and enclosing a self-addressed stamped envelope. No answers will be given to marital, medical or legal questions, nor will the estimated value of old coins be given.

What is the legend which is woven about "The Fontane," a spot outside of Rome?

The Fontane, which means "Three Fountains," was the traditional scene of Saint Paul's martyrdom. According to the legend, it was here that, when the apostle's head was struck off, it made three bounds, and at each spot a spring gushed forth. Over the springs stands the church of Saint Paul without the walls, which contains the column to which Saint Paul was bound.

What is the gulf stream?

The gulf stream is the most important and best-known current in the Atlantic ocean, deriving its name from the Gulf of Mexico, out of which it flows between the coast of Florida on the west and the Bahamas on the east. Its breadth in the narrowest portion is about 50 miles, and its depth about 2,000 feet; the velocity averages between two and three miles per hour, reaching an extreme of five or six miles in some localities. This stream has a temperature several degrees higher than the ocean. Its direction is northeasterly, flowing past and keeping the British Isles temperate.

What was the Trent Affair?

The Trent Affair was a diplomatic episode growing out of the seizure by an American vessel on November 8, 1861, during the Civil War in America, of two Confederate commissioners on board a British mail steamer. In the autumn of 1861 the Confederate government sent John S. Reid and James M. Mason as commissioners to France and England, respectively. They embarked at Havana, for England on the British mail steamer "Trent." On November 8, Captain Charles Wilkes of the United States vessel San Jacinto stopped the Trent and took the commissioners as prisoners. Although this act was applauded by many people, President Lincoln and Secretary of State Seward recognized its impropriety and disapproved it, and when a formal demand was made by the British ministry for the surrender of the two men, it was complied with and an apology tendered on the ground that they had been forcibly taken, from a neutral vessel on the high seas and upon a voyage from one neutral point to another.

What causes dew? Does it really fall?

In spite of the expression, "the dew is falling," dew does not fall. It is formed on the ground. The warmer air comes in contact with the cooler vegetation on the ground, which causes the moisture in the air to condense on the cooler surface.

How did the expression "red tape" acquire the meaning of official delay?

According to Webster's New International Dictionary, the reason that official formality or long drawn-out litigation is popularly known as red tape is because red tape has been used in public offices for tying up documents, etc.

Why is the list of the members of a jury called a "panel"?

Formerly a little pane or oblong piece of pavement was used for the purpose of listing the names of jurors and the list of the members of a jury is still called a panel.

There's a golfer's paradise in Hawaii where every player can capture that much coveted hole in one. The course is located at Kilaua, Hawaii's picturesque and smoldering volcano.

Kilaua in the Home Of Pele, goddess of volcanoes writes Irene Kuhn in Liberty Magazine. "Pele is a temperamental goddess and when she's hot she's very, very hot, and when she's quiescent she's something to inspire you with respect for a hole in the ground."

"From the porch of the Volcano House, on the brink of the crater, across a sea of dead lava, is seen the yawning mouth of the fire pit: Halemaumau constantly spitting clouds of smoke and steam."

"Pele may still be sacred to a few Hawaiians, rapidly dying from their impact with civilizations but golf is more sacred to the civilizers who are very much alive. One of the attractions of the Hawaiian volcano is the chance that is given the veriest beginner to make a hole in one there. The golf course at the volcano is so arranged that the fire pit itself is a hole."

Judge Hildebrand Renders Opinions In Several Cases

Action Is Taken On Motions
To Quash Indictments Against Samuel D.
Brady

REV. TURKIEWICZ
MUST PAY COSTS

In an opinion handed down by Judge R. Lawrence Hildebrand today, part of the reasons assigned for quashing indictments in the cases of the Commonwealth against Samuel D. Brady are held to be without merit, and part of them are held to be good. In concluding the opinion Judge Hildebrand says, "The extreme carelessness in drawing indictments apparent here and as exhibited by our records for the past year, we believe, should not be encouraged."

In this case five separate indictments were found against Brady by the grand jury. They charged fraudulent conversion and obtaining money by false pretenses in connection with an automobile company had taken an assignment of contracts. Motions to quash were made by the defense in all five cases. Some of the motions were granted and others refused. The defendant was convicted in two of the cases. In the cases quashed the district attorney has taken an appeal to the superior court.

In the case of John W. Offutt against Ernest L. Stitzinger, executor in the estate of G. G. Stitzinger, the questions of law raised in the affidavits of defense are decided against the defendants and they are permitted to file an affidavit of defense to the merits within fifteen days. The case was involving the payment of a note signed by Mr. Stitzinger and several others.

In the case of Charles Bernine against John Mastko defendants against judgment notwithstanding the verdict is refused and defendants motion for a new trial is granted. The case is one growing out of an automobile accident on Mahoning avenue in which the jury found a verdict in favor of the plaintiff in an action of trespass. The verdict was for $221.85 in favor of plaintiff.

In the case of John C. Wardman against E. L. Iseman and Grace E. Iseman, the sheriff is directed to distribute the money in his possession as follows: To R. M. Campbell, prothonotary, costs of audit $202.50 together with court costs, exclusive of the costs incident and accruing subsequent to the appeal of the Muntz-Wright company to the superior court, the balance thereafter remaining in his hands to be paid to the Muntz Wright company to apply on its mortgage against F. L. Iseman and Grace E. Iseman.

In the case of the commonwealth against Rev. A. M. Turkiewicz, defendant's motion for arrest of judgment is refused. This was a case in which defendant was charged with libel. A verdict of not guilty was rendered, but costs were placed on defendant. Under the opinion he will have these costs to pay.

In the case of the commonwealth against Smith and McQuiston motion to quash indictment is granted. In doing so the court says: "Extreme carelessness in the preparation of indictments has within recent months formed the basis of a great number of motions to quash."

A number of these motions have been granted, and in other cases where the motions have been refused, the court has felt that quashing would have been justified.

"Arguments and disposition of these motions take the time of the court, delay trials and add expense to the county."
